IN AFGHANISTAN!

London Newspapers Appreciate Gravity of Situation.

ENGLISH ARMY IN INDIA SMALL

Boers May Be Encouraged to Further Resistance and Russia May Endeavor to Promote Its Own Indian Interests.

RIVAL FACTIONS MAY RISE AGAIN

LONDON, Oct. 9.—The newspapers here fully appreciate the gravity of the situation caused by the death of the Ameer of Afghanistan. It is remarked as the least feature of the position that owing to the operations in Africa the English force in India, which was never more than an advance guard, is now below its normal strength, and the news will still further encourage the Boers to prolong their resistance.

Should history be repeated and the country given over to the strife of rival factions, it is impossible to predict the effect on the course of Central Asian politics, particularly upon Anglo Russian relations. Needless to say, the average Briton is convinced that chaos in Afghanistan will be the immediate signal for Russian intervention for the purpose of promoting Russia's advance on the Indian frontier.

Much depends upon the little-known personality of Habib Oullah Khan, Abdurraham's eldest son. If he inherits his father's strong character he will be able to control his turbulent countrymen with his father's iron hand.

LONDON, Oct. 9.—The mystery enveloping the death of Abdurrahman has not been dispelled. There are few, if any Europeans, in Cabul and the press despatches are meager. The peaceful succession of the Ameer's chosen heir, Habibullah Khan, is the substance of things hoped for by all English writers. He had been trained for the work by his father and was in possession of the strongholds of power when the change of reign came.

While there is little authentic information, there is a tone of confidence at the Indian office which indicates private advices from Viceroy Curzon, that neither a revolutionary outbreak nor a change of policy is dreaded at the outset of the new reign.

Sooner or later Hobibullah will be called upon to show his mettle in disciplining his rivals and gripping the tribes together, but unless important news has been suppressed in Cabul there is no immediate danger that a weak government, dependent upon Russia, will be substituted for the independent Afghanistan which has remained a strong defense for India.

One of the officials at the Indian Office remarked yesterday that the new Ameer was known to be the strongest and most capable possible successor to England's friend and ally and that his father had done everything to secure for him undisputed succession.

"The change of reign," he added, "occurred in one respect at an unfortunate time, since Lord Curzon has been creating a new province on the frontier."

The Czar's pacific policy is regarded as the strongest safeguard against the revival of race rivalry in Asia.

Members of the Royal Arcanum.

The members of the Royal Arcanum in Bellefonte are arranging for a big banquet to be held in their hall in the Undine building on the evening of October 17. The event will be in honor of two of their prominent dignitaries who will be here on that occasion, namely, Grand Secretary Webster C. Weiss, of South Bethlehem, and Grand Regent W. H. Druckemiller, of Sunbury. The committee of Arrangements is composed as follows: Charles Smith, Edward F. Garman, Jacob Lyon, Herman Holtz, Grant Hoover, Al Baum, Edward H. Hoy, C. K. Hicklen and Frank F. Kerns.

—Sheriff C. D. Beegle, of Cambria county, had an experience Monday, the end of which may not be known for a few days or longer. He was riding from Hollidaysburg to Altoona on a Logan Valley car with a bench warrant in his possession for the arrest of a man and was on the front platform of the car. The conductor wanted the Sheriff to go into the car, and when the latter refused, stopped the car and put the official off. The Sheriff, however, finished his journey on the same car and now the public will wait for the next chapter.

ASSAULTED AND ROBBED.

Farmer Rhone, of Fillmore, Roughly Handled by An Unknown Villain.

Jeremiah Rhone, a farmer, of Fillmore, went to Philipsburg Friday morning on business. During the day he fell in with a young man aged about thirty years, who was a total stranger to him. It seems that they "made up" with each other most freely, and took an occasional drink together. About 7:30 in the evening they wandered down the P. R. R. to the watering tank, near the engine house. Here the young man, whose name he afterwards gave as Calvin Stiles, and who it is thought lives near Snow Shoe, proceeded to "do up" his farmer friend and relieve him of his money. He choked him, hammered him and kicked him until he was presumably unconscious. Then he rifled his pockets, and in words that were overheard by the farmer, said, "I'll get a coupling pin and do the rest." Just then he heard the "Jerk Water" passenger returning from Houtzdale, and throwing the old gentleman on the track said, "It will do the balance."

Then he hurried away, and the old gentleman, hearing the train approaching, rolled off the track far enough to allow it to pass. He was soon able to get up, and at once reported the affair to the men at the engine house. He was in pretty bad shape, and was helped to the Continental hotel by a couple of railroad employes. Chief of Police Sankey was notified, and after getting a description of the culprits. Started out to find him. He overtook him a half hour later, brought him before Mr. Rhone, who identified him as the man who had assaulted him and robbed him of about $17.00. He was consequently placed in the lockup, and Saturday morning was given a hearing before Squire Sandford, who held him under $400 bail, in default of which he was brought to Bellefonte jail by officer William Batcheler.

Death of Mrs. William Howley.

Christena A. wife of William Howley, died Tuesday morning at ten minutes of eleven o'clock at her home on South Allegheny street after an illness of several weeks from heart trouble superinduced by asthma and nervous prostration.

Deceased, whose maiden name was Christena A. Ceader, was born in Louisville, Kentucky, May 15, 1863 and was the daughter of Joseph Ceader Sr., now deceased. She came to Bellefonte twenty-five years ago and has resided here ever since. She was married to William Howley, of this place, a year ago last April who survives as do also two brothers and one sister, namely, John, of Tyrone; Joseph, of Bellefonte and Regina, of McKeesport.

Deceased was a consistent christian lady, an earnest member of the Catholic church and of the Sacred Heart League, —Saturday afternoon a man entered the jewelry store of Walton & Acklin at Tyrone, selected a watch and deposited a pair of glasses for repairs, then offered a check in payment, drawn on the Blair County Banking company in favor of Lin Archie for $35. The name of David George Meek, of Fairbrook, was on the check as drawer. Mr. Acklin, not liking the looks of either man or check stepped out to consult Vice President Gates as to the validity of the paper but before he returned the man had skipped and has not been heard of since. Friday a clothier at State College accepted a check for the same amount drawn in favor of Ward Daughenbaugh on the same bank, and containing the name of W. E. Meek, of Fairbrook, as drawer. It proved a forgery. It is not known whether one man forged both checks or whether there were two rascals.—Tyrone Herald.

Did Not Know It Was Loaded.

Charles Packer, the sixteen year old son of Richard Packer, of Pleasant Gap, accidentally received a gun shot wound in the stomach Saturday evening about 6 o'clock and is now lying in a precarious condition with little hope of recovery.

The gun was in the hands of Henry Knoffsinger who was cleaning it at the time and who did not know it was loaded.

The accident occurred at Knoffsinger's home and young Packer walked a distance of about a mile and a half after being shot.

Supper.

The United Evangelical church will have a chicken and noodle supper in the room next door to post office on Friday and Saturday evenings, October 11th and 12th. All are invited to give them a liberal patronage.

W. H. BROWN, Pastor.

—Don't forget the Catholic Fair being held in the Parish Hall on Bishop street. Proceeds for the benefit of the church. Come everybody and help along.

THE EXPECTED HAPPENS!

Andrew J. Palm Resigns As a Democratic Candidate.

WILL NOT RUN FOR TREASURER

Says There Has Been a Great Change in Sentiment Since the State Convention's Declaration Against the Idea of Fusion.

RETURNED THANKS TO EVERYBODY

PITTSBURG, Oct. 8.—The following letter was made public here last night. It is self-explanatory:

MEADVILLE, October 7, 1901.—To the Democratic State Central Committee, per Hon. W. T. Creasy, Chairman, Harrisburg, Pa.—Gentlemen:

At the recent Democratic State convention I stated publicly as well as privately that I would not stand in the way of uniting the reform forces of the state on a fusion ticket, if such union should seem advisable. At the notification meeting six weeks later, I again expressed a willingness to withdraw if the Democratic State Central Committee should deem it wise in order to effect a fusion of the anti-machine forces.

From the general tone of the Democratic press, as well as from the opinions of the members of the committee who have been consulted, I am convinced that the Democratic sentiment of the state is strongly in favor of uniting our strength with that of the Independent Republicans in what promises to be a successful contest against that political organization, which is so lost to all sense of honor and shame as to indorse the last Legislature in a state platform.

While it is true that the State convention passed a resolution indicating opposition to fusion, it is equally true that a great change in sentiment has taken place since the 15th of August, and there is no doubt that if a convention were to be held today it would be heartily in favor of uniting with those who are fighting the same battle for better government.

In view of all that goes to make up the political situation I deem it my duty as a citizen as well as a candidate to do what I can to make the way clear for a fusion ticket, and, therefore, I have this day forwarded notice of my withdrawal as a nominee for State Treasurer to be filed in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth.

In the hope of creating a feeling of antagonism, some of the Republican papers have been saying that I am to be thrown off the ticket or forced to withdraw. The truth is that neither Democrat nor Independent Republican has demanded or even requested my withdrawal. On the contrary, all who have mentioned the matter have said that if I preferred to remain on the ticket, that would end further talk of fusion as far as they were concerned; and while I would willingly continue as a candidate, if that were thought best for the cause in which all good citizens are so deeply interested, I withdraw just as willingly, since a majority of these citizens believe that success is more likely to result from a union of the anti-machine forces.

Every good Democrat should carefully acquiesce in the judgment of the majority and especially when he is not asked to indorse any principle or advocate any measure to which reasonable objection can be made. There is something before us this year more important than quibbling over party names, personal interest or partisan advantage. There is in fact, no political question before us in this contest.

The men elected this Fall will have nothing more to do with the tariff question, the financial problem, the ship subsidy scheme, the Nicaraguan Canal, or any other political subject than the man in the moon. There is a higher and more important issue than all these wrangles over matters of money.

The principles of the decalogue itself are forced upon us as the gauge of battle and we are called upon to decide whether bribery, perjury and general political corruption shall be rebuked or whether they shall be wilfully indorsed at the ballot-box.

It will not be considered out of place to say a word as to Hon. Elisha A. Coray, who will be presented by the Independent Republicans to take the place made vacant by my withdrawal. He is a gentleman whose integrity and capability cannot be justly assailed, and one whom no voter need hesitate to support if he desires to aid a candidate who is fully competent and thoroughly honest. No man who supports him will ever have cause to regret it through any act of Mr. Coray. To ascertain how faithfully he has stood by the honest people of the State, it is but necessary to examine the proceedings of the Legislature since 1896. His voice and vote have ever been for the right and against the wrong and his hands are unstained by the bribers touch.

I wish to say in closing that I shall always bear in grateful remembrance the kindness accorded me since the nomination by the newspapers of the state regardless of their party bias, as well as by the notification committee, the members of the state central committee and the leaders of the party generally. Hoping that right and justice may prevail in the coming contest and victory perch upon our banners, I am sincerely yours,

ANDREW J. PALM.

Reception to Students of State College Given by Faculty.

On the evening of Friday, October 4th, in the armory at State College, the Faculty of the institution gave a reception to the students. The event passed off in a most happy manner.

The company began to assemble at 8 o'clock and as each student arrived he was taken in hand by the reception committee and introduced to the members of the Faculty and their wives. The large room soon filled with a throng of handshaking students. The reception committee was tireless in its efforts to make new students feel at home and the success of their efforts was soon attested by the manner in which all were enjoying themselves.

The Chapel choir, a double male quartette composed of students, enlivened the evening with good music and was encored. The musical program was concluded by the rendition of "A Son of the Desert am I," by Mr. Saunders, of the Freshman class, who has a voice of rare quality. The singing was warmly applauded and as an encore he sang "Kentucky Babe," to the delight of all.

The appearance of refreshments was a signal of more serious business and the students fell to with a will. The students showed their appreciation of the goodwill of the Faculty by giving a hearty "Faculty Yell," invented for the occasion, and then followed the College Yell.

A feature of the evening by no means unappreciated was the dance which followed. Those who were not fortunate enough to be favored with a fair partner led one of their college mates through the waltz or the two-step.

The company broke up at 1 o'clock after an evening of enjoyment. The Faculty certainly deserves great credit.

Buffalo Excursionists.

Quite a crowd of young people from over the county left on Tuesday for Buffalo. The names are as follows: Mr. Levi Sagner and sister, Miss Saphronia, of Boalsburg; Mr. J. A. Fortney and sister, Miss Anna, of Pine Grove Mills; Miss Burkholder, of Centre Hill, Miss Betty Kimport, of Linden Hall; Messrs. Newton Hess, Sam'l Hess John P. Wagner, and Stine Walker, all of Pine Grove.

Distributed Yearling Trout.

The United States Fish Commission car arrived in Lock Haven Monday from Wytheville, Va., having 18,000 yearling trout on board. About 8,000 were left here for distribution in streams in this vicinity. Several cans were also sent to Snow Shoe, Howard and other places. The car was in charge of F. C. James, captain.—L. H. Democrat.

Rummage Sale.

Ladies:—Housecleaning time is here, instead of burning up your rubbish old furniture, clothes, hats, shoes, pictures, neckties, shirts, collars, cuffs, books, magazines, lamps, etc., keep them, lay them by, for in a few days young ladies will call for them, for a Rummage Sale to be held here the first week of November Benefit Ladies Aid Society of Bellefonte.

Death of an Old Lady.

Mrs. Amelia Rockey of Zion peacefully passed away at her home, last Friday evening. She was a good, kind old lady and will be greatly missed in the home. She was born June 14th 1820 and was aged 81 years 3 months and 22 days. The funeral took place Wednesday morning at ten o'clock from her late home.

—William C. Marsh, a woodsman, went to Williamsport on Thursday, intending to enter the hospital for treatment for varicose veins. While walking along the street a vein burst in one of his legs and he came near bleeding to death before surgical aid was procured.

TWO FATAL COLLISIONS!

One Occurred Some Distance West of Renovo Sunday.

BETWEEN PASSENGER AND FREIGHT

Engineer of the Former Was Killed and Four of the Latter's Crew Were Hurt—Accident is Blamed on Operator.

FOUR KILLED ON THE PANHANDLE

WILLIAMSPORT, Oct. 7.—A head-on collision on the middle division of the Pennsylvania railroad at Sterling Run, 36 miles west of Renovo, at 5:10 o'clock Sunday morning, between passenger train No. 9 and freight train No. 906, resulting in the death of one man and the injuring of four others as follow:

Killed:

Harry Snodgrass, of Renovo, engineer of the passenger train.

Injured:

William T. Buck, of Renovo, both legs and shoulder broken; brought to the Williamsport hospital.

R. A. Fleming, Renevo, leg broken, back sprained, numerous contusions about head and body; brought to Williamsport hospital.

Harry Johnson, Renovo, head badly hurt.

James Collins, of Renovo, severely scalded.

All the injured were members of the freight crew. The cause of the collision is not yet known, but it is understood to have resulted from an error made by a telegraph operator.

STOPPED TO MAKE STEAM.

Fatal Result of a Rear End Collision. Four Men Killed.

LOGANSPORT, Ind., Oct. 7.—Four Pan Handle railroad trainmen met death near Onward, 14 miles southeast of here Sunday morning in a rear end collison of freight trains.

The dead:

Elbert Greeley, conductor.

Thomas H. Brosius, flagman.

S. A. Galbraith, brakeman.

John Hutchinson, fireman.

The injured:

Frank Patterson, Engineer.

The second section of the train consisted of an engine and two caboosees. In the rear caboose were Galbraith, Brosius and Greeley and Conductor Weaver. All were asleep when the train stopped near Onward to make up steam. When the third section loomed up it was too close for any of the men to escape except Weaver, who jumped and got off uninjured.

Engineer Frank Patterson, of the third section, escaped serious injury, but the sleeping trainmen in the caboose of the second section and Fireman Hutchinson, of the third section, were buried in the mass of debris and their bodies horribly burned. A number of cars were wrecked and destroyed by fire.

Death of Father McCarthy.

Late Friday afternoon a telegram was received in this place stating that Rev. F. P. McCarthy, well known in Bellefonte, died at Providence, R. I. Father McCarthy was formerly pastor of the Immaculate Conception church in Lock Haven. He was pastor of the church there for nearly five years.

For nearly a year he has been in ill health suffering from a complication of stomach and heart trouble. He was aged about 40 years. The funeral took place Monday morning at Providence R. I.

A Woodman Killed in the South.

Andrew Laughlin, who is engaged in cooking in a lumber camp in Hamilton county, W. Va., has written a letter to Robert Graham, clerk at the Central hotel Williamsport, stating that Denny Lanich was killed at that camp. He was badly smashed and his heart was picked up and wrapped in a handkerchief. A tree that afterwards scaled 1,000 feet, fell on him. He belongs to Pennsylvania, but just where his home was is unknown to the writer.

—Mrs. Michael Walizer, of Mackeyville, while shaking her tablecloth, fell off the porch and dislocated her right shoulder. Dr. Dumm reduced the fracture.

—Rev. F. B. Riddle, a well known minister of the Central Pennsylvania M. E. Conference, now stationed at Bloomsburg, was stricken lightly with paralysis a few days ago. His right side was affected.

STONE AND LIME COMBINE.

Will Include Much Property Along the Pennsylvania and Reading.

Lime and stone dealers in this section are interested in the plans of Philadelphia capitalists, who are organizing a $6,000,000 stone and lime combination. This organization is to take in all the best properties on the lines of the Pennsylvania and Philadelphia and Reading railroads.

A charter for the company was applied for at Harrisburg on Sept. 30, and a meeting in Pittsburg the other day was to arrange for floating the stock, a large part of which will be taken by present owners of the properties to be combined in payment. The American Trust company, Pittsburg, will underwrite the entire amount.

It is generally understood that Robert Kelso Cassatt, who is a son of President A. J. Cassatt, of the Pennsylvania railroad, is to be made president of the new company. Mr. Cassatt, when asked for confirmation of this, said: "I have no idea of being president. I would hardly have time for the work."

Bounty for Soldiers.

The following appeared in the Pittsburg Post Friday. All Spanish war soldiers will watch the further development of the matter with more than ordinary interest. If one citizens who served in the Spanish war is entitled to the cash all are:

New Castle, Pa., Oct. 3.—D. P. Packard and J. A. Gellispie, who served in the Sixteenth Pennsylvania volunteer regiment during the Spanish-American war, have unearthed two old laws that will prove a bonanza to every soldier who enlisted at the call of President McKinley.

It seems that one of the old Federal laws, which provided for a bounty of $194 for each soldier upon enlistment, have been repealed, and that therefore all the veterans of the late war are entitled to that amount. This will be added to by a Pennsylvania statue, which gives a further bounty of $30 for each soldier who enlisted within the borders of the state. Both laws were passed during the days of the Civil war when volunteers were difficult to secure.

Agents Warned.

Before beginning a series of prosecutions the following warning has been sent out to fertilizer agents by the department of agriculture:

"The attention of manufacturers and agents is hereby called to the fact that licenses for the manufacture and sale of commercial fertilizers expire December 31, 1901, and in order to protect agents and others selling or offering these goods for sale, all licenses should be promptly renewed. It is the duty of agents to know that the fertilizers which they sell or offer for sale are properly licensed, for they, with the manufacturers, are personally liable for offering or selling unlicensed goods. One half the penalty goes to the informer."

The department has heard of a number of violations of the law and has deemed the warning better than immediate legal action. Persistent breaking of the law will be followed by arrest.

Hyman.

Died, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. T. J. Hyman, at Oak Park, Ill., Wednesday, September 25, of paralysis, Mary Jane, wife of Augustus Hyman, aged 76 years, The deceased was a native of this county, the youngest daughter of John Irwin, one of the early settlers of Centre county, and was one of a family of nine, the eldest of whom alone survives, Ellis Irwin, of Lick Run Mills, Clearfield county, who is now in his 97th year. Born of Quaker parentage, Mrs. Hyman was of choice a Methodist and lived an died an ardent member and active worker in that church. More than 40 years ago with her husband and children she moved to Iowa, where the family lived for many years, but her home for several years has been in Milwaukee. Between the ages of fifteen and forty-five, the time when womanhood begins and motherhood ends, it is estimated that the aggregate term of woman's suffering is ten years. Ten years out of thirty! One third of the best part of a woman's life sacrificed! Think of the enormous loss of time! But time is not all that is lost. These years of suffering steal the bloom from the cheeks, the brightness from the eyes, the fairness from the form. They write their record in many a crease and wrinkle. What a boon then to woman, is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It promotes perfect regularity, dries up debilitating drains, heals ulceration, cures female weakness, and establishes the delicate womanly organs in vigorous and permanent health. No other medicine can do for woman what is done by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

A Bad Runaway.

Miss Bertha Stamm, of Loganton, sustained quite serious injuries in a runaway accident, near Loganton, Wednesday afternoon. The Rev. C. C. Misener, of Aaronsburg, with whom Miss Stamm was riding, was also painfully though not seriously hurt.

The Rev. Misener had been to Lock Haven, and started to drive to Sugar Valley to visit his parents. Miss Stamm, who chanced to be in Lock Haven, having accompanied her father earlier in the day, returned with the Rev. Misener. Mr. Stamm followed with his team shortly afterward. When Mr. Stamm reached a point near the sulphur spring, above Loganton, he found his daughter lying unconscious at the roadside. The Rev. Misener appeared a few moments later, himself quite badly hurt from having been dragged by his runaway for fully one hundred yards. Mr. Misener explained that while descending the hill a strap of the harness broke, letting the shafts fly up over the horse and frightening the animal. It became unmanageable and started at a break-neck gait down the hill. Miss Stamm leaped from the buggy and alighted on some rocks along the roadway. Mr. Misener was drawn out unto the horse's heels where he became entangled in the reins and was dragged over the rough road for one hundred yards. He was terribly bruised, but no bones were broken. The horse ended its mad race by coming up in a gutter at a bend in the road.

Miss Stamm was badly hurt. She was lifted into her father's wagon and taken home. There is a gash on her head, showing where she alighted and came in contact with a stone. It was feared at first that her skull was fractured, as it was two hours before she recovered consciousness. However, her condition is quite favorable, and it is believed she will fully recover.

Cannot turn back the hands of time. The demand for Dr. Agnew's little Pills is a marvel. Cheap to buy, but diamonds in quality—banish nausea, coated tongue, water brash, pain after eating, sick headache, never gripe, operate pleasantly. 10 cents, or 100 pills 25 cents.—19

Lee's Statue Full of Honey.

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 3.—It was discovered Wednesday that in the heroic equestrian statue of General Robert E. Lee there are probably hundreds of pounds of honey. Both the horse and rider are of bronze and are hollow. For months bees have been going in and out at the parted lips and nostrils of the horse and rider.

It was noticed that the bees went in and out in almost a constant swarm. The bees began to enter the statue last summer, and have been making honey ever since. There is no way to get inside the statue without damage to it. The fear is that vandals may try to get at the honey.

Catarrh and Colds Relieved in 10 to 60 Minutes.

One short puff of the breath through the blower supplied with each bottle of Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder diffuses this powder over the surface of the nasal passages. Painless and delightful to use. It relieves instantly, and permanently cures catarrh, hay fever, colds, headache, sore throat, tonsilitis and deafness. 50 cents.—21

—Delegates have been elected in the four conferences of the United Evangelical church, which are interested in the movement for the establishment of a new college by the consolidation of the Central Pennsylvania college, at New Berlin, and Albright college, at Myerstown. These delegates will meet as a committee in Harrisburg some time this month and will likely come to a final decision in regard to locating the college.

Tot Causes Night Alarm.

"One night my brother's baby was taken with Croup," writes Mrs. J. C Snider, of Crittenden, Ky., "it seemed it would strangle before we could get a doctor; so we gave it Dr. King's New Discovery, which gave quick relief and permanently cured it. We always keep it in the house to protect our children from Croup and Whooping Cough. It cured me of a chronic bronchial trouble that no other remedy would relieve." Infallible for Coughs, Colds, Throat and Lung troubles. 50c and $1 00. Trial bottles free at F. Potts Green's Drug Store.

One of the Finest Shows of the Season.

"Where The Laugh Comes In" played Thursday evening in the Garman Opera House to a comparatively small audience, although the show was simply fine.

The cast was composed of ladies and gentlemen who we can say were as good as any stars that ever appeared in Bellefonte. From the time the curtain arose at 8:15 until it dropped at 10.30 the audience was kept in a continuous uproar. Mr. Joe M. Jacobs, manager of the company is to be congratulated, and if a return trip is made to Bellefonte we can guarantee him a full house. The show goes from here to Johnstown.

Children's Party at Boalsburg.

Mrs Theodore Boal gave a party on Monday evening Sept 30th after school to the pupils of the primary school in honor of her son Pierre. Refreshments consisting of ice cream and cake were served during the evening. The children enjoyed themselves by playing all kinds of out-door games. When they left for their homes each member of the party was presented with a gift by the hostess showing her kind disposition towards everybody.

The Changeling Child.

The Scientific Explanation of the Change Formerly Attributed to the Fairies.

In folk lore stories there is frequent mention of changelings—children who were changed by fairy influence. Some loving wife and proud husband found their child weak of body, and sometimes weak of mind. It grew up to be fretful, sullen and perhaps spiteful. It seemed impossible that love could bring such a child into the world. So the child was called a fairy changeling, a child substituted by the fairies for one whom in their envy for its loviness they had carried away.

We hear no more of fairy stories. Stern science says that healthy and lovely children must have healthy parents, and that when the mother in her days of waiting and anticipation is nervous, anxious, sleepless and generally miserable, her child will be weak and fretful.

How reasonable this is. The child can have no strength which the mother does not give it, and how can the weak mother, who has not enough strength for herself have anything to spare for her babe?

THE FAIRY GOD-MOTHER

is a very pretty invention. But the real fairy god-mother is the natural mother of the child. It is she who must endow her child with health from which springs all other endowments desirable for humanity.

The way to have healthy children is to be healthy. But how to be healthy is the vexing question for women. Is the mother to blame because she is nervous, because her appetite fails and her strength wanes, because she is sleepless and despondent? One cannot blame the woman whose only failing is that she does not know how to change her condition. Yet a woman's health is practically in her own control. If she is weak she can be made strong. If she is sick she can be made well. The experience of other women shows that the rose of motherhood can be stripped of its thorns by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

"When I wrote to you in March, asking advice as to what to do for myself," says Mrs. Ella Reynolds, of Guffie, McLean Co., Ky. "I was expecting the baby's coming in June, and was sick all of the time. Had been sick for several months. Could not get anything to stay on my stomach, not even water. Had mishaps twice in six months, and threatening all the time now. Had female weakness for several years. My hips, back and lower bowels hurt me all the time. Had numbness from my hips down. Had several hard cramping spells, and was not able to do any work at all. I received your answer in a few days, telling me to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I took three bottles, and before I had taken it a week I was better, and before I had taken it a month I was able to help do my work. On the 27th of May my baby came, and I was only sick three hours, and had as easy time. The doctor said I got along nicely.

"We praise Dr. Pierce's medicine for it has cured me. I am better now than I have been for thirteen years. I hope all how are afflicted will do as I have done and be cured."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a perfect medicine for women. It establishes regularity, dries the drains which weaken women, heals inflammation and cures female weakness. It is the best preparative for maternity, strengthening the nerves, encouraging the appetite and inducing refreshing sleep. It gives the mother strength to give her child and make the baby's advent practically painless.

THE TEST OF WOMAN'S HEALTH

is strength. A well woman will be a strong woman. She will not be "just dragging around" with throbbing head, aching back and constant weariness. No woman can be strong who is troubled by disease of the delicate female organism. The proof of the curative power of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription may be all summed up in the phrase "It makes weak women strong, sick women well."

"During my two years of married life I have not had good health," writes Mrs. Daisy Studdard, of 608 So. Esplanade Ave., Leavenworth, Kans. "I was all run-down, and my husband got me to write to Dr. Pierce and explain my case to him and see if he could do me any good. So I wrote, and, thank the Lord, I got an early reply, telling me what the trouble was. I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and also the 'Pleasant Pellets,' and now can say that I feel like a new woman, and can say also that we have a big baby four months old. When the baby came it was just wonderful how I got along and now I do all my work and do not feel tired out like I used to. I have taken eight bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription.' It makes one feel well and strong."

Women who are troubled with chronic diseases are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All letters are privately read and privately answered, and womanly confidences are guarded by the same strict professional privacy observed in personal consultations. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

When a dealer tempted by the little more profit paid by less meritorious preparations offers a substitute as "just as good" as "Favorite Prescription" remember that "just as good" for him means his profit and your loss.

A WOMAN IS AT HER WITS' END

sometimes to find a cure for familiar ills. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is full of helpful hints and information for women.

"I got the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser for 31 one-cent stamps," writes M. M. Wardwell, Esq., of Linwood, Leavenworth Co., Kans. "Would't take five dollars for it if we couldn't get another. Gave receipt for 'nursing sore mouth' to two women that the doctor was not able to benefit, and they were cured."

This great medical work, containing 1008 large pages, is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the cloth-bound volume, or only 21 stamps for the book in paper-covers. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Can Bend His Bones Like India Rubber.

A dispatch from Sharon, Pa., says: "One of the most remarkable cases that has ever come under the observation of local physicians is that of Joseph Homer, whose bones they allege are becoming soft and flexible and in a few years he will be totally helpless. Homer's legs are now affected and can be bent and twisted in all possible shapes without him suffering any pain whatever. He has been in that condition for several weeks. Osteopathists cannot explain the cause of Homer's condition."

A Very Pleasant Occasion.

Twenty-one years ago the Methodist church at Buffalo Run experienced a very gracious revival, as a result of which several of the converts were led into the ministry and other christian work, viz: Rev. Chas. W. Biddle, of Clearfield; Rev. F. W. Biddle, Osceola, and Rev. Robert H. Stine, of Muncy, and E. J. Biddle, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. of Tyrone. Last year a reunion of the converts of the revival in question was held and proved such a pleasant affair that it was voted to have the reunion again this year. It was held on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, and was a very delightful occasion.

Pennsylvania Railroad Changes.

F. D. Casanave, general superintendent of motive power of the Pennsylvania railroad for the lines east of Pittsburg and Erie, has tendered his resignation and has accepted a position of general superintendent of motive power of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad system, with his headquarters at Baltimore.

As this leaves a vacancy in the office of general superintendent of motive power of the Pennsylvania railroad, General Manager J. B. Hutchinson on Saturday announced these appointment to fill the vacancies: W. W. Atterbury, superintendent of motive power, Pennsylvania railroad division, to be general superintendent of motive powers, with headquarters in Altoona; Richard N. Durborrow, superintendent of motive power of the Buffalo and Allegheny Valley division, to be superintendent of motive power, Pennsylvania Railroad division, with headquarters Tyrone; Herbert M. Carson, master mechanic at Pittsburg, to be superintendent of motive power, Buffalo and Allegheny division, with headquarters in Buffalo. The new officials will assume charge of their positions to-morrow.

Nerve Slavery.

It is present-day conditions—heaping burdens of work upon the nervous system that tells the story—premature breaking up of health.

It tells why so many men and women, who so far as age in years is concerned, should be in the prime of health, find themselves letting go of the strength, the power, the vitality they once possessed. It is because that great motor power of the body, nerve force, is impaired. Every organ depends upon its controlling power just as much as the engine depends upon the steam to put it into action. An engine won't go without steam. Neither will the heart, the brain, the liver, the kidneys, the stomach act right without their proper nerve force supply. Let any organ be lacking in this essential and troubles begin—some of them are:

Throbbing, palpitating heart.
Sleepless nights.
Sudden startings.
Morning languor.
Brain fag.
Inability to work or think.
Exhaustion on exertion.
Flagging appetite.
Digestion slow.
Food heavy.
Easily excited, nervous, irritable.
Strength fails.
Loss of flesh and muscular power.
Settled melancholia.
Utter despondency.

A picture, hideous, but easily changed to one of brightness by use of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills. They build up the nerves and supply nerve force.

The above is the genuine package of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills, are sold by dealers or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Company Buffalo, N. Y. Price 50 cents.

MASSACRE AT SAMAR!

CUBANS ASK REDUCTION OF DUTIES

On Tobacco and Sugar—In Santiago Large Processions March, Much Enthusiasm Manifested—Children Snow-ball in Michigan.

FIRST SNOW OF THE SEASON

WASHINGTON, Oct, 5.—The war department last night received a dispatch from Gen. Chaffee, at Manila, giving further details of the massacre of Co. C, Ninth regiment, at Samar. The information was sent to Gen. Chaffee by two of the company who escaped. They say the company was attacked at a signal by the ringing of convent bells by about 450 bolomen, 200 from the rear of quarters, and 200 from front simultaneously, while the company was eating breakfast.

The attacking force gained possession of the arms, and in the fight for the weapons most of the men met death. The enemy was beaten off temporarily by about 25 men. The company consisted of 3 officers and 72 men. The 3 officers and 40 enlisted men were killed; 28 living men are accounted for, 13 of these being wounded. Four are missing. Insurgents set fire to quarters building and a number of bodies were burned. The little band of 28 men buried the 3 officers and 29 men before leaving in a boat for Basey.

CUBA WANTS DUTIES REDUCED.

SANTIAGO DE CUBA, Oct. 5.—Upward of 8000 men, representing every element in Santiago, responded to a call issued by the chamber of commerce inviting them to participate in a demonstration organized to present to the military government a memorial urging a reduction of American duties on Cuban sugar and upon tobacco.

CHILDREN SNOWBALLED IN MICHIGAN.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct 5.—Specials from Calumet, Mich., and Kalamazoo and Charlotte, in Southern Michigan, say that the first snow of the season fell last Thursday. At Calumet the school children indulged in snowballing.

Gold in your Garret

Hundreds of housewives who never dye anything, who think they can't dye, or imagine that it is a task, are losing the good of cast away fabrics that could be made almost like new dyeing.

It is an extremely easy process with the perfected dyes of today, and the cost is but a trifle.

PACKAGE DYES

We handle the best package dyes on the market. They color silk, wool, cotton, mixed goods or feathers.

If you prefer the old fashioned dyes we can supply them and furnish directions. The materials will be of highest quality and will cost but little.

SAPOLIO

A Remarkable Birth Record.

Mrs. Joseph H. Ornsby, of Chicago, a lady thirty years old, who has twice given birth to twins and once to triplets, last Monday brought forth quadruplets, three boys and one girl. The quadruplets are small, but perfectly formed, and there is an excellent prospect of their living if they are given the proper care. Their aggregate weight is 12 pounds.

Aside from three single births the Ornsby family Bible shows the following birth records:

November 1, 1896, twins; September 18, 1897, twins; September 24, 1899, triplets; September 30, 1901, quadruplets.

The family is poor, the husband being taken up with perpetual motion schemes. They will be cared for by the Humane Society. This mother, who at 30 has given birth to 14 children, is herself one of triplets.

REPUBLICAN COUNTY TICKET.

FOR PROTHONOTARY,
EDWARD C. McKINLEY,
of Bogg's Twp.

EDITORIAL.

"Judge Love is the recognized leader of the Quay forces in Centre county."—John Hamilton to the Republican county convention, July 30, 1901.

IN Hon. Harman Yerkes, Democrat, for Justice of the Supreme Court, and Hon E. A. Coray, Jr. Independent Republican, for State Treasurer, the Democratic and Union parties will unite upon ideal nominees, the election of whom will be a triumph for good government and a demonstration that the people have not lost their power to select their own public servants.

THE Union Party has effected an organization in Centre county and is preparing for an active and vigorous campaign in the interest of the party nominees, Hon. Harman Yerkes, of Bucks county, for Justice of the Supreme Court, and Hon. E. A. Coray, of Luzerne county, for State Treasurer. There is undeniably a strong independent sentiment among the Republican voters in the county and the Union Party county chairman, John C. Miller, of Bellefonte, has received most encouraging assurance from all sections of the county that a thorough campaign along the lines of the usual political canvass will crystalize this sentiment into a formidable revolt against the Machine State ticket. Chairman Miller means to wage an earnest and dignified campaign in the interest of honest government and pure politics and he will use his best efforts toward the amalgamation of all good citizens in Centre county, of whatever party in this movement against the iniquitous Quay machine and its corrupt and profligate abuse of political and official power and authority.

MEN OF THE PEOPLE.

The Republican party has suffered more from the assassination of its leaders called to the highest station than any other ever formed. In looking back over the line of martyrs the historian will be struck by the fact that all three, Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley, were sons of poverty who rose to eminence through the recognition of great qualities by their fellow citizens Lincoln was so poor that he had to educate himself; Garfield paid for his education by manuel labor on the tow path and elsewhere; McKinley came from a long line of toilers, was too poor to obtain a college course and was compelled at an early age to earn his bread. All these men great by nature's birthright though born in poverty, fell by the pistols of assassins. In a speech last week on these martyrs of American history, Gen. Grosvenor said: "The great men of today in politics, at the bar, on the bench, in the great railroad organizations of the country, in the mighty industrial field of our tremendous success, and in all the vast world of effort, mental and physical, in the United States, the men of grandeur, wealth and leadership, have come up from the humble walks of American boyhood."

Every observer of American affairs knows that, nine times in ten, the leading men in the country were poor boys. What, then, is anarchism trying to accomplish by the assassination of those called to the post of highest responsibility in the United States? Would they kill the spark of ambition in children born to poverty and bid them follow the example of Czolgosz, whose sole object was to destroy and murder? The common people, the toilers themselves, are the chief victims of anarchists, who object to American opportunity and the rise of any man to a higher station. There is something so demoniac in anarchism that it appeals to the mind by its possibilities of human depravity. The poor are the last who should listen to or tolerate it, for it substitutes malignant hate for the spirit of emulation and cheerful obedience to nature's law of labor.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT TAKES A NEW STAND.

It was entirely natural that a good many applicants for office who had interviews on the subject with President McKinley at some time before his death, should go away with high hopes that they were to be selected despite the fact that the desired office had not been promised to them in so many words. President McKinley's well know affability conduced to this, leading some persons with sanguine dispositions to come, in course of time, to the conviction that they had secured an absolute promise. Consequently, when it became known that President Roosevelt was making a point of redeemig all pledges of his predecessor it was again entirely natural that many men, without the least intention of deceit, should permit themselves to overstep the exact facts in narrating the circumstances of their earlier interviews. Others of course, have deliberately lied about it. The result is that nearly every Congressman who has recently gone to the White House for an office for a constituent has taken with him the assurance "that Mr. McKinley had promised it." In several instances, the same office has been claimed by three or four men. President Roosevelt, therefore, has been forced to modify his earlier stand in the matter and now insists that the intentions of Mr. McKinley shall be clearly shown either by the personal evidence of a cabinet officer or Congressman or by documentary record.

THE RELIGION OF MOHAMMED.

WHAT makes the Sultan's late call upon the world to embrace Mohammedanism of slight interest is the fact that there are already some propagandists, of its doctrines at work in this country. Islamism, contrary to general belief, has quite an elaborate organization. While Mohammed and the Koran are its foundation an extensive doctrinal and ritualistic structure has been built upon them. Its central, all dominating idea is the oneness of God. The destiny of the elect and the damned is decreed by the eternal. There are twelve capital sins, polytheism, homicide, injury of another, adultery, robbery of orphans, desertion on the battlefield, magic, disobedience to parents, sacrilege, usury, theft and use of wine. Any of these heaven may pardon except polytheism. The external observances of the ritual are ablution, prayer, fast, pilgrimage and paying tithes. Prayer must be made five times daily. The tithe is only required of the rich, and is then solely devoted to the poor. The various obligations of the ritual may, under certain conditions, be dispensed with. The moral code of Islamism especially prohibits hypocrisy, envy, obstinacy, gluttony and avarice. With regard to the charge that Islamism degrades woman, it is claimed this is the result of Eastern prejudice and not of the faith. Nowhere in the world, it is said, is the mother held in greater honor and reverance than among the Mussulmans.

THE PRESIDENT'S DOG.

A little incident which somebody about the White House witnessed the other day is significant both as an illustration of certain traits in the character of President Roosevelt and as an example for his admirers. There has been an impression among certain of his critics that he believed "the strenuous life" to consist chiefly in hunting and killing animals; but though a mighty hunter, he is not merely a Nimrod, as the following occurrence shows!

It was a rainy, dreary day, soon after Mr. Roosevelt's return to Washington, and after a busy morning the president and his secretary started out for a walk. Just out side the door lay a homeless, friendless dog, as close to the wall as he could get, his body curled up into the smallest possible [illegible] to avoid the rain and possible observation. As the two men emerged from the door he looked up apprehensively to see if a kick or a stern "Be off with you, now;" would compel him to beat a rapid retreat. But nothing of the sort occurred. Mr. Roosevelt's expressive face took on a pitying and kindly look, and bending down, he stroked the animal's head and pulled him gently by the ears.

"Poor doggie, haven't you any master?" he inquired. Then he went back into the house, and the dog, with instinctive understanding of the situation, trotted close at his heels. The President ordered that the waif should be taken to the kitchen and given a good meal; and it is said that that dog will be the dog of the White House during this administration.

Mr. Roosevelt is not one of those sportsmen who are satisfied with popping away at tame pigeons. When he goes hunting he wants the excitement of killing a dangerous wild beast. It will be a good thing for his boy admirers to remember that the man who led the charge at San Juan Hill was quite as ready to befriend a homeless cur as to hunt cougars or grizzlies.

NO MORE long term bonds will be purchased by the Treasury Department out of the sinking fund at present. Notice was posted in the Treasury Department Monday morning announcing that the department had purchased to that time $17,750,750, and would withdraw the offer when the amount reached $20,000,000. Several hours later $2,250,000 of bonds were offered and accepted, bringing the total to $20,000,750. The department will continue the purchase of short term bonds under the offer of last spring.

THE "Philadelphia Inquirer" says the Philadelphia lawyers are working hard for Weaver, the Machine candidate for Prothonotary. They are likely the shyster class whose practice is confined exclusively within the jurisdiction of the Fifth Court.

THE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS.

The Philadelphia "Public Ledger," in commenting editorially upon the two proposed Constitutional Amendments which will come before the people at the November election, has this to say in its issue of October 1st:

"Interest in the November contest should not cause citizens to overlook the fact that two Constitutional Amendments are to be voted on. One of these emanates from the Union Committee for the Promotion of Ballot Reform and the Merit System in Pennsylvania. It proposes to amend the Constitution so as to give authority to the General Assembly to prescribe personal registration of voters in cities. In its present form the Constitution provides that all laws regulating the holding of elections or for registration of electors shall be uniform, and that no elector shall be deprived of the privilege of voting by reason of non-registration. The latter clause was obviously intended to protect voters whose names had been negligently or maliciously left off the list by assessors. Experience has demonstrated that the system of assessment in cities is susceptible of grave abuses. Too many of the assessors neglect their duties, or perform them improperly, while the principal cause of complaint is the assessment of the names of persons who are disqualified or mythical. In the country precincts the electors are well known, and padded lists are rare, but in the crowded cities, where persons may dwell for years in adjoining houses without becoming acquainted, and where there is a large migratory population, the present system offers abundant opportunities for fraud. The amendment recommended by the Union Committee on Ballot Reform provides that laws regulating and requiring registration may be enacted so as to apply to cities only, provided that such laws be uniform for cities of the same class. The reason for authorizing the application of personal registration to cities, without extending it throughout the State, is that the country districts consider that they do not need personal registration, and are averse to the expense which such a system would impose on them. The adoption of this constitutional amendment does not enjoin personal registration, but it empowers the Legislature to introduce it at the discretion of the law makers, and subject to the retained constitutional restrictions.

No better evidence of the necessity for personal registration and of its practicability need be sought than the experience of New York, where elections are often close and temptations to fraud strong. In New York city the registrars sit for several days in advance of the general election for the purpose of enrolling the names of persons qualified to vote. Minute description of the physical appearance of the applicant is recorded in a book kept for the purpose as a check upon personation at the polls. The work of registration is done with order and care, and by representatives of the principal political parties, so that partisan advantage and fraud are minimized. The introduction of such a system to Philadelphia would not usher in the millennium, but it will conduce to fair and honest elections.

There is another Constitutional Amendment to be submitted at the November election. It provides that elections may be carried on by other secret means of voting than the ballot. The adoption of this amendment would permit the General Assembly to authorize the use of voting machines, of which there are several varieties.

Certainly no good citizen should fail to cast his vote in favor of the personal registration amendment.

A SURE SIGN OF DEGENERACY.

By a law of nature neither nations nor individuals nor political machines can long conceal the tendency to degeneracy when they start on the fatal downward incline. There can be no surer token of the rot of the State Machine than the fact that Mr. Elkin, who was removed by Govenor Hastings for malfeasance in office, is the Attorney General of Governor Stone and his prospective successor for the Machine nomination. When Governor Hastings selected Henry C. McCormick for Attorney General the interests of the Commonwealth were the chief consideration. When Governor Stone selected the discarded official of Governor Hastings for Attorney General there was nothing else in view than to carry out the programme of Machine politics. The result is seen in legal opinions on questions of legislation that betray only a study of the Constitution to find means of evading most wholesome provisions.—Phila. Record.

FUSION FOR THE PEOPLE.

It will rejoice all patriotic Pennsylvanians to be assured that there will be a fusion of the Democratic and Union organizations upon a single ticket for State officers in opposition to the candidates of the machine. This union was foreshadowed and invited by the Democratic State convention, but its completion was wisely left to the determination of public opinion. While the influence of the machine was exerted strongly against it, the sentiment of earnest Democrats throughout the State has been unmistakably expressed, and at a conference of responsible leaders of the party at Pittsburg on Saturday the withdrawal of Mr. Palm was definitely agreed upon. Mr. Coray, the Union candidate for State Treasurer, will be substituted in his place and the "closer union" contemplated by the State convention will thus be completed.

Mr. Coray was the most aggressive of the Independent Republicans in the late Assembly who boldly and persistently opposed the lawless schemes of the Quay machine and supported the honest Democratic minority in their efforts to save the State from disgrace. He thus conspicuously represents that very large element of the Republican party that is in sympathy with the Democracy of Pennsylvania in its present effort for State reform, and his nomination on the Democratic ticket will emphasize the fact that this battle is not fought for partisan advantage but for the honor of Pennsylvania. In connection with the candidacy of Judge Yerkes for the Supreme Court, it will command the active support of all patriotic citizens, irrespective of party lines.

A DYING RACE.

Another official report has reached Washington concerning the alarming mortality among the natives of Alaska and the Aleutian Islands. The diseases which have afflicted them are principally those imported along with the advent of civilized man, proving again that contact with civilization is dangerous to the savage. Measles, for example, has been a terribly fatal malady among those peoples of the frozen North, though regarded in this latitude as one of the simplest of complaints. The Aleuts, of course, is that their dwellings are not ventilated and they have no doctors among them to cure their ills. It is a pity that enlightment cannot send its sanitary knowledge among the simple in advance of the sickness that seems to follow close in its wake.

THE cowardly conduct of the inhabitants of the island of Samar who followed up professions of the utmost friendship for the representatives of the United States in one of their towns by an early morning assault which resulted in the death of the officer who was foolish enough to trust them, and in the slaughter of the majority of his men, is simply typical of their treachery. The government of the United States has gone to the very verge of sentimentalism in the treatment of these hypocritical savages. They do not understand kindness. They mistake it for fear. They do not know what fidelity to voluntarily assumed obligations means. They believe that treachery is a virtue and that it is better to lie than to tell the truth. The town in which the massacre of the members of the Ninth infantry occurred should be utterly destroyed.

No "mourning stamp" will be issued by the Post Office Department in honor of President McKinley though sooner or later, a stamp, or possibly a series of stamps, commemorative of him will be printed. There are two obstacles to the issue of a special mourning stamp: First the fact that it would take nearly three months to prepare the plates and print the stamps, by the end of which time the period of official mourning would be long past; and, second, the fact that black as a border is forbidden to the United States by the rules of the International Postal Union, to which the United States belongs. This complication would prevent any such stamps from circulating through the foreign mails. The question of issuing a series in ordinary colors commemorating events in the life of the President has not yet been settled but it is unlikely that anything of the kind will be done. There is practically no doubt, however, that a stamp will soon be put forth bearing his portrait in its center.

THE Chinese exclusion act expires by limitation next year and already one hears that movements are on foot looking toward its re-enactment. The act was not needed at the time it became law and if it is to be continued it should be amended so as to include all Italians of the laboring class, Hungarians, Russian Jews and other obnoxious and undesirable citizens. The only objection that will hold against the Chinese is that they work for low wages. They are not disorderly characters, have no sympathy with anarchy or anarchists and obey the laws and regulations of the community in which they chance to reside. If they are to be kept out there is every reason why other far more dangerous nationalities from Europe should keep them company. Under the circumstances the enactment of the anti-Chinese act was an insult to Christian civilization because it discriminated against a people whose only crime was their willingness to work at whatever came to hand honestly and with the utmost fidelity.

Another Snake Charmer.

From the DuBois Courier, October 5.

James R. Thompson, of Big Soldier mine, was in town yesterday afternoon, looking after his pension, in which he was assisted by Squire Woodring. He is a veteran of the One Hundred and Fifty-fifth Pennsylvania volunteers, and is now almost 81 years old. He is still quite active and thinks nothing of walking in to town from his home and back again. While here yesterday he succeeded in attracting a good deal of attention by pulling live rattlesnakes out of his pockets. It appears that he is one of those singular individuals who handle the most dangerous reptiles with as much freedom and unconcern as they would a poodle. One of those which Mr. Thompson exhibited had eight rattles on its tail and according to this register is eight years old. Its mate has six or seven rattles. Thompson fondled them and even went so far as to stick the head of the larger rattler into his mouth, then closed his mouth.

He has handled snakes ever since he was a small boy; he has thirty-eight of the rattlers at home now, and besides his fondness for them as pets he likes them for a fry better than eels.

Live Stock Shows
...AT THE...
PAN-AMERICAN

WHEN Superintendent Converse promised a better series of live stock shows at the Pan-American Exposition than was ever before attempted, the statement was accepted as an ordinary pleasant and pardonable exaggeration.

The complete success of the dog and the swine shows, however, proved to be the first steps toward redeeming his promise.

The cattle show was an agreeable surprise to every stockman who saw it and at once established a new standard of excellence that will not be equaled for years to come and possibly never surpassed as regards quality.

The sheep show, now fully under way and lasting to Oct. 25, is in every way a worthy successor to the dog, the swine and the cattle shows. The best flocks in the United States and Canada are represented, together with their recent additions of imported stock, consisting of about twenty fine animals now shown in this country for the first time.

The sheep show, taken as a whole, is one of the most complete ever brought together. Every important breed has a strong representation, while every breed known has an exhibit of some kind. The Island Black Face, of which there are but three or four flocks in the United States, are well represented, and they are creating a great deal of interest among the exhibitors and visitors.

All classes in the middle wools are particularly strong, among which are noted prizewinners from the east, west, north, south and Canada. The strongest representation of all is from the Merinos. Vermont, the home of the Merino, where the only distinctive American breed of sheep originated, is represented by many of her best breeders. This fact deserves more than a passing notice, as our domestic animals of American origin are not numerous. We have borrowed almost everything of this nature from other countries. The only other exception is possibly the American trotting horse.

Angora Goats.

In connection with the sheep show is an exhibit of 240 Angora goats. These interesting animals fill one of the live stock pavilions. The growing of Angora goats is a comparatively new business in this country, and very little is known about it in the east. Their adaptability to rough, rocky pasture lands, where they graze and grow contentedly, has brought them prominently into consideration where such lands have proved useless or nearly so.

Wool Exhibit.

As another feature of the sheep show Superintendent Converse has arranged an exhibition of wool. This is international in scope, having fleeces from the different states, Canada and several South American countries. Argentina alone contributes more than 200 sample fleeces. Chile, Costa Rica, Bolivia, Salvador and other Central and South American countries are also represented. Such an international wool exhibit was never before attempted. It cannot fail to produce lasting benefits that will be shared by growers of sheep, manufacturers of woolen goods and through them the general public.

Shearing Machinery.

Still another accessory to the sheep industry is elaborately illustrated. In one of the stock buildings a platform was erected about three feet above the floor, upon which is installed the latest and best shearing and clipping machinery. Some of the machines are operated by electricity, while others are worked by hand. To show to Exposition visitors their practical working, twenty sheep are brought from the East Buffalo stockyards every morning. One machine is set in motion each half hour during the day, and one of the men in charge removes a fleece with it. One of the operators claims a speed of one and one-half minutes to a fleece.

Range Sheep.

In a pen outside of the regular sheep exhibit is a carload of range sheep direct from the Canadian northwest. These are sent as an advertisement of the rich pasture lands and an illustration of what may be produced there without additional feed and without artificial shelter.

The Pan-American Horse Show.

Dame Fashion may have withdrawn her smile of approval and the different styles of autos turn their backs in derision, but the horse still holds favor with the great majority of mankind. The horse show at the Exposition which holds the boards for two weeks, from Oct. 7 to Oct. 19, will be no exception. Five hundred horses are coming which are carefully selected to faithfully represent the best of every breed found in the United States and Canada.

Vermont is again courting prominence by sending a fine lot of Morgan horses, a breed that should receive more attention than it does.

Draft horses, especially the Clydesdale and Percheron breeds, are well represented. These are principally from Canada and the western states.

German coach horses attract a great deal of attention. One large importation of these horses will be brought direct to the Exposition.

French-Canadian horses from Quebec are entered more as a special feature of the horse show. They are little known in the United States, but their style and endurance will commend them as superior coach horses and those that will command favor in any market.

Instead of enumerating the different breeds it is only necessary to select any kind of horse wanted, with the assurance that it will be on exhibition. The finest stables on the continent are contributing to the show with sufficient enthusiasm to insure the finest representation possible. The judging takes place in the Stadium on the 9th and 10th of October, when this immense structure will be none too large to accommodate those who will want to see this crowning climax to such an elaborate series of live stock shows.

Poultry and Pet Stock.

From Oct. 21 to the close of the fair the stock pavilions will be once more filled with life, though in a very different form. Poultry of high degree from all parts of the United States and many places in Canada will fraternize without regard to politics or tariffs. As near neighbors the poultry will have mice, rabbits, cats, cavies, prairie dogs, squirrels, ferrets, rats and Belgian hares, besides a great assortment of pigeons, owls, magpies and a great many cage birds.

Eight thousand animals and birds are being gathered together to form this complete cosmopolitan assemblage of birds and animals.

The Pan-American Exposition is proving a great success. While the enterprise suffered for a few days from the national tragedy, the crowds that have put off going until the fall are rushing to Buffalo in great numbers now.

President Roosevelt said of the Pan-American Exposition, "It is well worth the while of every man, woman and child in the country to visit the Pan-American Exposition."

More than 5,000,000 people have visited the Pan-American Exposition. As Secretary of Agriculture Wilson said on Sept. 11, after a visit, "No one can afford to keep away."

Thomas A. Edison said of the Pan-American Exposition after viewing the illumination, "This is the apotheosis of the incandescent light."

Poultrymen from all over the United States will be meeting at Buffalo and the Pan-American Exposition the last three weeks of October.

The stock shows at the Pan-American Exposition have been most popular. The sheep show began Sept. 23 and lasts until Oct. 25.

Innes' band, one of the best in the country, will give concerts free to all Pan-American Exposition visitors from Oct. 7 to 20.

Not to Old Too Marry.

Williamsport, Oct. 9—A venerable looking couple were married in this city Tuesday morning. They were Gideon D. Thomas, who is 83 years old, and Mrs. Ellen B. Martin, who is 72 years old. The couple came from Jersey Shore and were accompanied by Rev. Mr. Karns, pastor of the Epworth M. E. church, of that place. They procured their marriage license and then proceeded to the home of Louis Sheffer, where Rev. Mr. Karns performed the ceremony.

Mr. Thomas is a retired farmer in comfortable circumstances. Mrs. Martin has been married twice. She is also a sister of Mr. Thomas' wife of fifty years ago, but who has since died.

Mrs. Carrie Nation Locked Up.

WHEELING, W. Va., October 9.—Carrie Nation, the Kansas saloon smasher, is in jail here because she will not pay a fine of $20, give a peace bond or leave town. She entered a saloon here late Monday night accompanied by 400 women and men, but was arrested before she could do anything. When tried before Mayor Sweeney Tuesday it was shown that her only offense was entering the saloon. She was given the alternative of leaving town or going to jail for thirty days. Habeas corpus proceedings will be brought for her release.

A Double Tragedy.

John Bennett killed his wife and then shot himself near DuBois Monday night. Bennett was 35 years old and his wife was 27. The two had quarreled frequently and about a week ago they separated. Monday evening Bennett went to see his wife. She thinking that he wanted to effect a reconciliation, stepped into the yard. Bennett shot his wife and then killed himself.

When the inmates rushed into the yard they found both on the ground dead, each with a bullet hole in the forehead.

Watch for this Fellow Ladies.

A stamping pattern agent turned up in Shenandoah last week, and, it is said, induced several persons to pay him $1.50 each, he guaranteeing to furnish them employment to pay at least $3 per week. A lady was to call next day with 50 patterns to start with, and give instructions in the art of pattern making. She evidently took the wrong train, or does not exist, for she is yet to arrive.

Appointed as Judge.

HARRISBURG, October 9.—Governor Stone Tuesday appointed George Troutman, of Hazelton, judge of the orphans' court of Luzerne county to succeed the late Alfred Darte. The governor recently appointed Mayor Frank M. Nichols, of Wilkesbarre, but he declined on the plea that it would interfere with his canvass for election. He is the republican nominee and will be voted for at the November election. Judge Troutman's commission expires January 1, 1902.

NOT THE ONLY ONE.

There are Hundreds of Bellefonte People Similarly Situated.

Can there be any stronger proof offered than the evidence of Bellefonte residents? After you have read the following quietly answer the question.

Mr. William Valence East Lamb street, Night watchman, says: "For 2 years or more off and on, I had trouble with my back and pains in the upper part of my spine accompanied by a disagreeable feeling in my head and acute lameness right over my kidneys. At first I thought it was my liver but later found it arose from the kidneys not acting properly. I read of the many cures that had been made in Bellefonte by Doan's Kidney Pills and I got them at F. Potts Green's drug store. They stopped the annoyance from the kidneys and removed the lameness and aching in my back. They did me any amount of good and I do not hesitate to recommend them."

NATURE'S MISTAKES.

SOME THAT MEN CONSIDER TO BE OF REMARKABLE VALUE.

Paradoxical as It May Appear, the Perfection of a Precious Stone Is Largely Due to Some Imperfection In Its Making by Nature.

Paradoxical as it may appear, the perfection of a gem is largely due to some imperfection in its make. Some little mistake made in the laboratory of nature produces a defective stone which is perfection itself from the lapidary's point of view. Ninety-nine out of every hundred emeralds dug from the mine are almost white and of little value, but the hundredth one is of a rich velvety green and, if without other flaws than its color, sells for $300 a carat or 240 times as much as its colorless brother. The reason of the rich color which gives the emerald its value is that nature, in making the stone, put in too much oxide of chromium, just as the cook sometimes gets too much saleratus in the biscuits. The standard of perfection in the laboratory of nature is the colorless emerald, and her deep green ones are some of her failures; failures which, nevertheless, delight mankind, however much they may disgust nature. You could buy a ton of oxide of chromium for the price which half a grain of it gives to a cheap and common crystal.

When nature makes mistakes in manufacturing diamonds, the results are equally remarkable. Her standard for a diamond is a pure white stone, but sometimes a foreign substance gets into the crucible, and the result is a red or blue diamond. A fine white brilliant of one carat can be bought for $125, but a blue stone of that size would be cheap at $3,500. A red diamond is of even greater value, a red stone of fifteen grains having been sold for $5,000. Yet the little particle of foreign material which nature carelessly let fall into the mixture when she was making that stone down in the heart of some primeval volcano is of less value than a grain of common salt and only got there by mistake.

Nature manufactures in her laboratory a material called spinel. You can buy a block of spinel as large as you can carry for a few dollars. Sometimes in making spinel small quantities of chromic acid get into the material and color it a deep red. The pieces so colored nature rejects as spoiled in the making and throws them in the dust bin, from which men dig them out and call them rubies. A ruby of thirty-two carats recently sold for $52,000. Yet the material of the cheap spinel and the valuable ruby are practically the same, save for that small fraction of chromic acid which got into the ruby by mistake.

When nature starts out to manufacture opals, she endeavors to make them without any cracks in them. In this she seldom succeeds, coming nearest to perfection in the Mexican opals, which have few cracks in them and therefore little luster. The fiery glow of the oriental opal and the play of light in the depths of that exquisite stone are due entirely to the numberless cracks which seam the surface of the gem. It must give nature a poor opinion of mankind when she sees him selling the Mexican opals, which are nearly perfect, for 12 cents a carat and paying $25 a carat for her failures, the cracked fire opal of the east.

Not only in gems, but in many other things, does nature make mistakes and failures, the results of which are highly valued by man. The chank shell, a shell much like the conch shell of these shores, is one of the commonest shells on the beaches of India, and millions of them are gathered and burned for the lime that is in them. Yet in a temple near Kandy, Ceylon, are two chank shells which hold the place of honor in a shrine covered with gold, and no amount of money could buy them from their guardian priests. Their value consists in the fact that nature was not quite herself the morning she fabricated these shells and gave a right handed twist to them instead of a left handed one, such as has been given to all other chank shells, so far as man knows, since the beginning.

Baron Rothschild once paid $300 a dozen for some Schloss Johannisberg wine, and it is admitted that, taking everything into consideration, it was not an exorbitant price. Yet the wine of the same year from the vineyard directly adjoining the Johannisberg vineyard, on the same bank of the Rhine, a vineyard whose soil is, to all appearances, the same, only brought $5 a dozen. And there is no special secret about the manufacture of Johannisberg wine or about the variety of grape used. Its great value comes from a little joke of nature. In the soil of the Johannisberg vineyard there is an infinitesimal amount of a certain salt which is found in the soil of no other vineyard. The admixture is so slight that no chemist has ever been able to imitate it, yet it is worth many thousands a year to the owner of the vineyard.

CARLISLE INDIANS—BUCKNELL FOOTBALL.

Reduced Rates to Williamsport via Pennsylvania Railroad.

On account of the football game between the Carlisle Indians and Bucknell college, to be played at Williamsport on Saturday, October 12, the Pennsylvania Railroad company will sell excursion tickets to Williamsport, good going on October 12 and returning until October 14, inclusive, from Bellefonte. A WOMAN'S LOVE.

A sentinel angel sitting high in glory
Heard this shrill wail ring out from purgatory:
"Have mercy, mighty angel; hear my story!

"I loved, and, blind with passionate love, I fell.
Love brought me down to death and death to hell,
For God is just, and death for sin is well.

"I do not rage against his high decree
Nor for myself do ask that grace shall be,
But for my love on earth who mourns for me.

"Great Spirit, let me see my love again
And comfort him one hour, and I were fain
To pay a thousand years of fire and pain."

Then said the pitying angel: "Nay! Repent
That wild vow! Look! The dial finger's bent
Down to the last hour of thy punishment!"

But still she wailed: "I pray thee, let me go!
I cannot rise to peace and leave him so.
Oh, let me soothe him in his bitter woe!"

The brazen gates ground suddenly ajar,
And upward, joyous, like a rising star,
She rose and vanished in the ether far.

But soon adown the dying sunset sailing,
And like a wounded bird her pinions trailing,
She fluttered back, with broken hearted wailing.

She sobbed: "I found him by the summer sea
Reclined, his head upon a maiden's knee.
She curled his hair and kissed him. Woe is me!"

She wept: "Now let my punishment begin!
I have been fond and foolish. Let me in
To expiate my sorrow and my sin."

The angel answered: "Nay, sad soul; go higher!
To be deceived in your true heart's desire
Was bitterer than a thousand years of fire!"

DYNAMITE AND MINERS.

Long Immunity From Accident Results In Contempt of Danger.

"After a miner had handled dynamite for eight or ten years without a serious mishap it is a good idea to put him to doing something else about the works," said a gentleman of this city who has had a great deal of experience with high explosives. "The chances are a hundred to one that his long immunity from accident has given him such a contempt for danger that he is an unconscious menace to everybody on the premises. He will do things that not only imperil his own life, but the lives of all his comrades. To give you an illustration, once I had an old Cornishman at work at a mine in which I was interested and had intrusted him with a general supervision of all the blasting. He had been handling dynamite for twenty years or more and was justly regarded as an expert. During that entire period he had never had an accident worth speaking of, and by degrees the care and vigilance that were responsible for his excellent record had worn away until he was beginning to entertain the delusion, common to old hands, that the danger of the stuff was very much exaggerated.

"One day I was passing through a cut where some blasting had been going on and noticed the old Cornishman hammering a drill into what seemed to be a boring in the rock. I asked him what he was doing, and he told me coolly there was a cartridge in the hole that had failed to explode and he was 'just knockin' out the tampin' to reprime it.' I was horrified, for at every blow he was liable to explode the dynamite, and I ordered him sternly to stop and never repeat such a performance. The proper method would have been to have drilled a new hole near by and exploded the first charge with a second blast. He obeyed sullenly, grumbling to himself, and less than a month afterward was blown up while doing exactly the same thing. He lost his left arm at the shoulder, his left eye and part of his left ear. He also lost his contempt for dynamite, and when he finally emerged from the hospital I gave him back his former job. I never had a more scrupulously careful employee than he was from that time on. It seems a brutal thing to say, but there is nothing that does an old dynamite hand as much good as to get blown up once or twice."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

When Gold Looks Green.

Gold can be beaten out so thin that it allows light to pass through it, in which case, though it still appears brilliant yellow by reflected light, it is green as viewed by transmission—that is, by the light that passes through it. This curious effect can easily be observed by laying a piece of gold leaf upon a plate of glass and holding it between the eye and the light, when the gold will appear semitransparent and of a leek green color.

A Serious Conflagration.

The large farm house of Frederick Dale near Osceola, together with all its contents, was destroyed by fire on Saturday morning about 2 o'clock. The fire originated from a defective flue. The family barely escaped with their lives. All the clothing was destroyed, together with a half dozen of watches belonging to different members of the family, pocket-books, money, etc. In fact about the only thing saved was a pair of shoes.

The loss will be quite heavy, the total insurance on the house and barn amounting to only $1,500.

OCTOBER DAYS
PAN-AMERICAN

AT Chicago October was the great month in point of attendance at the World's fair. There is every reason to believe the same result will come to the Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo, where October is always a month of delightful weather. The Exposition in point of beauty and interest is at its climax, and the programme of special events is such as to attract and please. September started with great crowds, and only the tragedy in the Temple of Music, which stunned and shocked a world, halted an overwhelming success in that month. The Exposition management as a tribute of respect closed the gates for one day, Thursday, when the state funeral of the third martyred president took place. The crowds since then have poured to Buffalo. The Temple of Music, now hallowed and historic ground, has been the Mecca of thousands.

Buffalo has demonstrated her ability to care for great crowds satisfactorily, not only in hauling them to the Exposition by street car and steam railway at a fare of but 5 cents from any part of the city, but to house and feed them at prices in the reach of all. The stories of exorbitant prices were long ago shown to be fables, and every visitor who makes the slightest effort to get accommodation can do so wholly within his means.

The Exposition itself, with its beautiful buildings, its coloring by day, its magic lighting at night, its walks and courts, its canals and lakes, its fountains and statuary, its exhibits and its amusements, has been a delight to the 5,000,000 visitors who have already been to the Pan-American.

The Exposition Company opened up the month of October, beginning Monday, Sept. 30, with a Carnival week of splendid events, including a baby coach parade, with 3,000 school children singing in the procession, a monster pageant with the floats used in the New Orleans Mardi Gras and allegorical parade and the feature of the beautiful floral parade at Saratoga. These will take place on Thursday and Saturday, Oct. 3 and 5, but every day from Sept. 30 to Oct. 5 will be replete with interest. Special fireworks on the lake, with decorated and illuminated launches in a procession of fiery grandeur, will afford new and wonderful sensations to the visitors.

Thus October will be ushered in with a programme so arranged as to give the American public a delightful week.

The life saving drill, daily, has become one of the great attractions of the Exposition. It tells the story of the work of the heroic men who guard the shores of ocean and great lakes, always on the alert to drag from death's brink the shipwrecked sailor or passengers. The model camp of United States marines, the seacoast guns, the ordnance and all the exhibits showing war's panoply and our defensive measures have been a great educator to thousands of visitors. Some military company is always encamped in the park, and that part of the grounds is never without interest.

With the magnificent exhibit of the United States Government and the South and Central American States' buildings every visitor can spend a day. No exposition has ever provided in so compact a space, with such beauty of architecture and with so much care for the comfort of the visitor, so much. All exhibit buildings are free, including the Stadium, the great amphitheater, the art gallery, state buildings, and never was so much given for so little.

The gorgeous pyrotechnics—and no exposition has ever been so lavish in the display of fireworks—are free to all Exposition visitors. The programme provided by Pain in October includes the magnificent water carnival with gorgeous ballet, wonderful figures in liquid fire, and aerial bombs and rockets of startling beauty and mystifying construction.

To the millions interested in agriculture, stock and poultry rearing, the Pan-American Exposition especially appeals. The cattle show was a tremendous success and the sheep show, beginning Sept. 23 and continuing to Oct. 25, has proved an attraction for those interested, from every section from Maine to California and Canada. Among the states represented are Michigan, Indiana, Wisconsin, New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Vermont, Ohio, New Jersey, Texas and Missouri. Of the total number of flocks on exhibition twenty-seven have been sent here from the Dominion of Canada, most of the exhibitors being located in the province of Ontario. The province of Quebec is also represented. During the course of the sheep show there will be held in the New York State building a series of meetings of prominent North and South American sheep breeders.

The Buffalo Review of Sept. 24 said that "this ought to be a great time for the farmers to visit the Pan-American. Every farmer in New York State, not to mention those in other parts of the country, ought to see the attractions of the Rainbow City during the next three or four weeks.

"The cattle show last week was a big feature of the Exposition, and this week there is a great sheep show in progress.

"The New York State farmers and the sheep raisers from other states will find it most interesting to compare the South American breeds with those of North America.

"It will surprise many to learn that the pavilions for animals at the Pan-American cover ten acres and are capable of housing 35,000 animals."

The programme for October so far as made up at this time is as follows:

1. Mexican day, fireworks, free organ recital, John P. Lawrence, Washington.
2, 3. Free organ recital, W. H. Donley, Indianapolis, Ind.
3. Nebraska day, Toronto day, fireworks.

28. Alaska day.
29. Pain's fireworks.
31. Pain's fireworks.

Can Care For 250,000.

Director General Buchanan says the only problem now confronting the Exposition is how to find days enough within the closing weeks to adequately take care of the many attractions and features now being planned. He predicts a great attendance during the month of October and one far in excess of the highest estimates that have been made by the most sanguine. In answer to the inquiry as to whether or not Buffalo could take care of the crowds, he said there was no difficulty whatever in this regard; that Buffalo could easily care for 250,000 strangers every day comfortably and at reasonable prices.

In the Music Temple.

The organ recitals in the Temple of Music are daily features of the Pan-American Exposition. Many celebrated organists are on the programme for October. Victor Herbert's famous orchestra will be at the Temple of Music from Oct. 14 to the close of the Exposition.

THE postponement of some of the special days has crowded many great events into the month of October. Toronto day opened the month with many thousand visitors from Canada on the 3d. Pennsylvania day, on Oct. 4, with Governor William A. Stone, his staff and several regiments of the national guard, made a splendid showing. New York day comes Oct. 9, following Brooklyn day. These two days will be the occasion for reunions of people west and east, as New Yorkers are found all over the Union.

The Citizens' Committee of Brooklyn has been hard at work for several months preparing for Oct. 8, and the programme which has been arranged promises a rare treat for those who are fortunate enough to gain admission to the Temple of Music during the time of its presentation. The special oration of the day will be delivered by the Hon. St. Clair McKelway, editor of the Brooklyn Eagle. The Hon. Ludwig Nissen will preside at the gathering, and other addresses will be delivered by Mayor Diehl of Buffalo, William C. Bryant, chairman of the Brooklyn Citizens' Committee, and Hon. W. I. Buchanan, director general of the Exposition. The music incidental to the occasion will be furnished by the Innes band of New York city. Elaborate fireworks have been planned for the evening.

On New York day Governor Odell will be escorted to the Temple of Music by sixteen out of town organizations in addition to the three located in Buffalo. Over 3,000 men will be in line, composing one of the largest and most imposing parades which has ever taken place in times of peace. All branches of service will be represented—infantry, cavalry, artillery, naval and signal. An elaborate programme has been arranged for the Temple of Music and a reception in the New York State building with magnificent fireworks in the evening.

Illinois day, on Oct. 7, is to be one of the great days of the Exposition. While the death of President McKinley made it necessary to postpone the day from Sept. 16, Governor Yates and the State commission have determined that the day shall be an event of great importance at the Exposition. Thousands of Illinois people are coming. The great middle west, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, with Michigan, have sent great crowds already to the Pan-American, and there is every indication that the attendance from that section will be greater than ever during the month of October.

Buffalo will have a great day on Oct. 19. At the Chicago fair Chicago day was the crowning event of the Exposition. So Buffalo people are laboring hard to make Buffalo day the climax in point of attendance.

Many nearby cities will have special days in October, notably Erie, Pa., on Oct. 10 and Dunkirk, N. Y., on Oct. 10. The list is constantly being added to. National Grange day, Oct. 10, will bring Patrons of Husbandry from every part of the nation. Atlantic City people and New Jersey people will visit the Exposition on Oct. 11, Atlantic City day.

Alaska day, on the 28th, will bring into prominence the products and people of that great golden land of the midnight sun, ice, snow and wealth. Every day from Oct. 1 to the 31st will be replete with interest, from Carnival week, which opens the month with the gorgeous floats of King Rex and the replica of Mardi Gras pageantry, to the magnificent pyrotechnic display on the night of the last day of the month.

No exposition ever held in the United States so appealed to the American public as has the Pan-American Exposition in its architectural beauty and symmetry, its gorgeous flowers, now in the fine beauty of fall bloom; its gardens and fountains and its special amusements, music and carnival features. "No person," said Secretary of Agriculture Wilson during a visit on Sept. 10, "should miss seeing the Exposition. It is magnificent beyond compare." Never again will the world see such an illumination. Not every city has the wonderful electric plant driven by Niagara Falls, and without some such plant it will be impossible to reproduce the solemn grandeur, the glorious beauty, the impressive radiance of this City of Light.

There are yet a few more weeks in which to see this vision with all its attendant beauties.

Conventions at Buffalo.

October will be a great convention month at Buffalo. Thousands of members of organizations will take this opportunity of visiting the Exposition at that time. Beginning with the International Cremation congress from Oct. 1 to 3, the month closes with the American Langshan club on Oct. 26.

National Grange Day.

Thursday, Oct. 10, will be National Grange day at the Pan-American Exposition. At a meeting in the city of Washington held in 1900 the National Grangers adopted resolutions setting aside this day, and a great assemblage of Patrons of Husbandry and farmers generally is expected.

OCTOBER FLOWERS.

There Is a Beautiful Display of Them at the Pan-American—The Gardens of the City of Light Are One of Its Most Attractive Features. Artistic Scenes Which the Lover of Beauty Should Not Fail to See.

The Pan-American is one of the greatest flower shows that ever was, but there are so many other things in which it is great that the rarity and beauty of its floral features are perhaps apt to be overlooked. If people would take more time to allow the artistic and beautiful features of the Exposition to impress their senses and permeate their inmost being instead of racing from one part of the grounds to another, trying to see every exhibit and every show on the Midway, they would go home feeling greater benefit from their stay in the Rainbow City.

The Pan-American is full of gardens which tempt the visitor to rest awhile and drink in the beauties of nature. It may seem surprising that in the month of October there are flowers worth looking at, but such is the fact. The rains of the past few weeks have kept the landscape as fresh and beautiful as in May and June, and as one flower goes out of the scene another takes its place. On opening day the hyacinths filled the air with their dainty fragrance, in June tulips lifted their proud heads, later in the month of brides and sweet girl graduates came roses, with their rich perfume, and as the summer passed the other flowers in their season sprang up as if by magic to take the place of those which had done their blossoming and served their turn in the entertainment of the visitors to the City of Light. And now one sees the tall cannas, the gay geranium and such old fashioned flowers as grandmother's garden had—the phlox, the pink, the begonia, the petunia and other posies which are no less beautiful because they do not happen to be novel.

In entering the grounds by the Elmwood gate visitors pass two tall and curious looking trees, which perhaps few in their anxiety to reach the heart of the Exposition stop to notice. If they realized that they were century plants just budding, a thing which, as all know, century plants only do once in a long, long time, they would doubtless stop and look with open mouths and wondering gaze. It is a sight which one cannot see very often anywhere else. One of these century plants is nearly forty feet in height.

The Rose Gardens around the Woman's building, having for their background the outlines of the Spanish renaissance buildings about the main court and the Electric Tower looming up at its north end, with the Mirror Lakes and the Triumphal Bridge and the groups of statuary abounding, form a scene whose artistic aspect must appeal to even the least aesthetic visitor. The cannas are very effective decorative plants, with their tall leaves in green and red and brown. A rich canna one sees here is named Governor Roosevelt. It would seem appropriate now to change its name to President Roosevelt.

On the opposite side of the Triumphal Bridge is the Wooded Island, and here one roams amid old fashioned flowers, growing as though they had sprung up there all by themselves without any assistance from the landscape gardener and his corps of assistants. But of course that is not the case. The studied carelessness of the gardening of this island is only one of the pretty deceits employed to produce the impression that it is all the work of Mother Nature herself.

Have you seen the fairylike effects in the garden about the Fountain of Abundance at night? It is one of the new things. This small garden is very beautiful by day, and at night electric lights of different colors have been hidden among the flowers and planks, so that one sees the surface of the ground dotted with these little spots of light, bringing out the beauty of the flowers, and all forming a scene impossible to describe, but very charming indeed to witness. It is quite a pretty surprise even to old Pan-American visitors.

Did you ever notice in crossing the Court of Lilies, south of the Machinery building, a heavy vapor arising from the basin in the center of that court? Sometimes it has so much the appearance of smoke that people think something must be afire in the garden, but it is only the steam or vapor created by the heating of the water in that basin for the benefit of the tropical lilies which grow therein. These lilies, which are known as the Victoria Regia, have enormous leaves, some of them three feet in diameter.

Other gardens where there are flowers in bloom during this month of October are those in front of the United States Government building and the Horticulture group, where the gay geraniums and sweet petunias contrast their colors with the green flags growing in the basin and with the white statuary disposed along their slopes.

There was a floral fete at the Exposition during the first week of October, and this in its way, of course, was an affair of much beauty and magnificence; but, as a matter of fact, there have been floral fetes at the Pan-American since opening day.

Indian Girl.

Many interesting things happen at the Indian Congress Pan-American Exposition, in the course of a day. Mrs. C. B. Colby, of Washington, D. C., wife of Gen. Colby, well known indian fighted, was at the Congress the other day with her adopted daughter, a full-blooded Indian girl, special guests. The 700 Indians showed them every honor, bowed and saluted in every conceivable manner.

There is quite a history connected with the little girl. She was picked up by Gen. Colby on the bloody-stained plains, after the battle of Wounded Knee had been fought. The U. S. soldiers were burying the dead, Gen. Colby's men came upon an Indian squaw. She was dead from a bullet wound in the heart. Clasped in her arms by her side was a baby and the little baby was sucking the cold breast of the dead mother. The general turned the little papoose over to his wife and she has been their child ever since. She was given the name of "Zingala Ma Nu-Nee," which means "Lost bird" It has never been known who her mother was nor her father. She was delighted with the Indians and they in turn, after the regular performance, honored her with the welcome dance. They wildly danced around a blanket, spread upon the ground, and threw many presents into it. As the result of the dance the little girl Indian was the recipient of $50 in gold and beautiful beadwork.

Another counterfeit quarter is going the rounds and there seems to be a great many of them. So cleverly is the piece made that even when one is told of it he must compare it with another and good quarter to see the difference. The spurious piece bears the date of 1900 and is one of the best copies of the genuine ever put into circulation. It weighs almost a grain more than the good coin and contains more silver. Among the distinguishing marks to be found are the following:

The E in the word "we" on the face side is prominent, whereas on the good coin the letter looks more like an F. On the "tail" side the eagle's head is defective—not curved properly— the beak is pointed and the head is smaller than on the genuine. The shield is larger than that of the genuine coin. The eagle's wings are thinner and pointed upward more than the original. The eagle's legs look more like turkey's legs. The eagle is defective all through, and the work on the entire coin is inferior to that on the genuine. The spurious coin is both thinner and of less diameter than the genuine.

THE COLUMBIA WON!

American Residents Propose to Erect Bust and Found a Scholarship

IN MEMORY OF McKINLEY, IN LONDON

Gen. Wood Has No Orders to Leave Cuba Until The U. S. Retires for Good—The Assassin of McKinley Asks for No Priest.

LETTERS NOT DELIVERED TO HIM

NEW YORK, October 4.—Here is the official log of the second race between the Shamrock II and the Columbia for the America's cup:

Start—Shamrock, 11 00:13 Columbia, 11.01-47.

First Mark—Shamrock, 11 51:10; Columbia, 11.52:22.

Second Mark—Shamrock, 12.45:57; Columbia, 12.46:39.

Finish—Shamrock, 2.16:23; Columbia, 2 15:05.

Elapsed Time—Shamrock, 3.16:10; Columbia, 3.13:18.

Correct Time—Shamrock, 3 16:10; Columbia, 3.12:35.

Course—Triangular. First leg, east half south, ten miles, second leg, southwest half south, ten miles; third leg, north northeast, ten miles to finish.

Weather—Fresh breeze from north northwest, which remained true and maintained its strength throughout the day.

In a glorious whole sail breeze, yesterday which heeled the big cup contestants down until their lee rails were a wash in the foaming seas, Herreshoff's white wonder, the Columbia, beat Watson's British creation over a triangular course of thirty miles by two minutes and fifty-two seconds actual time. With the forty-three seconds which the Irish sloop must allow the American boat on account o her large sail plan, the Columbia won the second race of the series by three minutes and thirty-five seconds. The fastest race ever sailed in a cup contest, it was not only a royal struggle from a spectacular point of view, but it was absolutely decisive as to the merits of the two racing machines. There is not a yachting sharp who witnessed the race yesterday who is not firmly convinced that the defender is the abler boat, blow high or blow low, beating, reaching or running, and that Sir Thomas and his merry British tars are doomed to return home empty handed.

Again the ancient piece of silverware brought across the western ocean fifty years ago is safe. Again American supremacy in marine architecture has been vindicated. Sir Thomas has been wishing for a breeze that would bury Shamrock's lee rail, and he had it, just as he had a similar breeze in the concluding race two years ago when Columbia in a driving finish beat the Shamrock over six minutes.

MCKINLEY MEMORIAL IN LONDON.

LONDON, October 4.—Arrangements are being made by the leading American residents of London for a meeting, which will be held in a few days, to decide upon a suitable memorial here to President McKinley.

It has been suggested that this memorial should be in the nature of a bust of the late President to be placed in Westminister Abbey or St. Paul's Cathedral, and that, at the same time, a suitable scholarship should be founded. Influential support for the scheme has already been secured.

WOOD WILL STAY IN CUBA UNTIL TROUPS RETIRE

Washington, Oct. 4.—No instructions have been sent to Major General Wood to come to Washington. It is expected that he will return here the latter part of this month or early in November for the purpose of consulting the President regarding the Cuban feature of the annual message to Congress. He will then return to Havana and will serve as Governor General until the United States withdraws from the island'

Brigadier General Samuel Whiteside, at Santiago, may proceed to Havana to temporarily serve as Governor General in General Wood's absence, but he is not to be permanently transferred to duty as the latter's successor.

CZOLGOSZ IS SULLEN.

AUBURN, N. Y., Oct. 4.—Czolgosz, in a "condemned cell." in the prison here, maintains a sullen silence and enters into conversation with no one save his guards, and with them only to answer questions regarding his food, etc. He is much better physically than when he entered the prison, and his appetite is little short of ravenous. He also sleeps soundly. His waking hours are spent in pacing up and down his cell and reclining on his cot. Warden Mead has received considerable mail for him, but as it is consists almost wholly of scriptural quotations, sermons etc., he has not delivered it.

"He has his Bible if he wishes to read, the scripture," said Warden Mead, "He has as yet expressed no desire to see a minister or priest. I have not been to see him since he was placed in his cell, but I receive reports from his guards, just as I receive daily statements concerning the other men in the condemned row. He is just the same as any of them, eats the same food, receives the same treatment, is healthy and decidedly uncommunicative. That is all there is to be said concerning him."

HOPELESS CASES.

When the doctor leaves and says the case is hopeless, what remains to be done? Nothing, if the doctor's word is final. Much, if you will listen to the statements of men and women who were once "hopeless cases" given up by doctors, and who were perfectly and permanently cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

Nothing is more sure than that thousands of men and women with diseased lungs, obstinate coughs, hemorrhage, emaciation and night-sweats, have been restored to perfect health by the use of the "Discovery." Will it cure you?

It has cured in ninety-eight cases out of every hundred where it was given a fair and faithful trial. By that record you have only two chances in a hundred of failure and ninety-eight chances of being restored to perfect health. It is worth trying.

Abram Freer, Esq., of Rockbridge, Greene Co., Ill., writes: "My wife had a severe attack of pleurisy and lung trouble; the doctors gave her up to die. She commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and she began to improve from the first dose. By the time she had taken eight or ten bottles she was cured, and it was the cause of a large amount being sold here. I think the 'Golden Medical Discovery' is the best medicine in the world for lung trouble."

FREE. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser containing over a thousand large pages is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 31 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Williamsport Sun Sued for Libel.

Judge Mitchell, who was appointed by Governor Stone to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Judge Metzger and is the machine candidate for election, has sued the "Williamsport Sun" for libel, the alleged libel consisting of comments in "The Sun" concerning the application of G. A. Geisler for naturalization, which was refused by the court and the facts about which are now well known in that community. The articles are republished by "The Sun," which then comments as follows:

"It will be apparent to all right-thinking people and the fearless press of Pennsylvania particularly that if anything in these articles be libelous, then the courts are above criticism. If it be libel to comment upon the refusal of a court to naturalize a man who fails to answer questions in geography and other questions of a character such as were not submitted to another applicant who was accepted, and whose own vouchers remarked, after he was accepted, that he "seemed to be a pretty dumb man," then "The Sun" is guilty.

"The Sun," however, is prepared to answer the charge at the proper time and place. In the meantime, the voters of Lycoming county may well ask themselves whether a man who has been upon the bench but one year and resents public criticism so acutely possesses the judicial temperament in such degree as to justify their support at the polls. If the press and public are not to be permitted to make proper comment upon a judge's acts—especially a judge who is a candidate for election—can this county stand this sort of thing for ten years to come?"

It appears by "The Sun's" statement that two applicants applied to the court for naturalization.

One was Calogia Vargo, residence Raleton. The name does appear on the assessment or registry books of McIntyre township. Nothing forther is known of him, except the papers show he came here from Italy Oct. 1, 1895. Application approved Sept. 9, 1901.

The other applicant, Geisler, owns a nice house in South Williamsport, is registered and assessed; he is a trustee of the German Lutheran church, and after inquiry made among his neighbors is found to stand well among them. The papers show he came to this country in 1886 from Germany. Application rejected Sept. 21, 1901.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Horrid Story of the Slaughter of Co. C, by Filipinos.

INDIAN MASSACRES PARALLELED

Idle mill Resumes—No Settlement of Street Car Strike—National Glass Co Retire from Association.

THE GOVERNOR SURPRISED

MANILA, October 3.—The latest advices from the island of Samar give harrowing details of the slaughter of the members of company C, Ninth United States infantry, last Saturday, at Balangaga. It seems that the preside of the town, claiming to be friendly, led the assault in person.

On hearing of the slaughter, Colonel Isaac D. DeRussey, of the Eleventh infantry, started for the scene immediately with a battalion. The body of captain Connell has been tied at the heels, saturated with kerosene and partly burned. Forty-five bodies had been burned in a trench, leaving seven unaccounted for. The charred remains of many were recovered. In numerous instances the bodies had been badly mutilated.

WILL WITHDRAW FROM GLASS COMBINE.

PITTSBURG, October 3.—The National Glass company, which owns twenty one plants and controls 70 per cent of the producing capacity of table glassware, blown and pressed tumblers, bar goods, etc., and which has heretofore been a member of the glass association, of which all the manufacturers of the above lines have been members, have given notice of withdrawing from said association to take effect January 1, 1902.

LAST IDLE MILL AT JOLIET TO RESUME.

JOLIET, Ill., October 3.—Rod mill No. 2, the last but one of the departments closed by the steel strike here, will resume operations next Monday, notice to this effect having been posted by the Illinois Steel company. More than 200 men will go back to work. This leaves only the Merchant mill in Idleness.

NO SETTLEMENT IN VIEW.

SCRANTON, October 3.—The prospects of an immediate settlement of the street railway strike does not appear to be very bright, though a conference has been arranged for today between General Manager Silliman and a committee of the strikers. The tie-up of the system was practically complete yesterday, the only cars running being the mail cars and one or two others which carried a few passengers. All these cars were manned by officials of the company and by some of the office help. There was no disorder whatever.

TICKET SCALPERS SENTENCED.

CAPE MAY, N. J., October 3.—Judge Voorhees, in the court of quarter sessions yesterday sentenced Michael H. Kerns and Alexander H. Gordon to pay a fine of $56 each, and the costs of the prosecution for illegal traffic in railroad tickets. Both men are residents of Cape May and had been engaged in selling the return portions of excursion and special tickets with a long term limit. The men had pleaded guilty. The judge in imposing sentence said ticket scalpers would not be permitted in this county, but in this case he would not add a term of imprisonment.

Under ordinary circumstances the sentence would have been more severe, but at the intervention of the officials of the Pennsylvania railroad, whose tickets had been involved, the clemency of the court was extended, as the prosecution was not intended so much as a punishment for this particular case as a warning to others who might be tempted to engage in the illegitimate traffic.

THEY SURPRISED GOVERNOR O'DELL.

ALBANY, October 3.—Governor Odell arrived in this city Wednesday afternoon from Newburgh, and when he reached the executive chamber was surprised to find on his desk two letters requesting him to commute to life imprisonment the sentence of Czolgosz, the murderer of President McKinley. One letter was sent by a man in Illinois and the other by a man in Maine. They were evidently written by cranks, in the opinion of the governor, and no attention will be paid to them.

Funeral Services Thursday Evening.

Services held at the home of Dr. T. C. VanTries on Thursday evening over the remains of Miss Nancy Oliver were very sad indeed. Quite a number of friends gathered to pay their last tribute of respect. A quartet composed of Mrs. Calvin Meyer, Miss Bessie Dorworth, Messrs. Hard P. Harris and Calvin Meyer sung two very pretty hymns. Rev. William Laurie, D. D., LL. D., had charge of the services.,

The body was taken Friday morning on the 6:30 train to Graysville where services were held again and interment was made. Besides the relatives who accompanied the remains were Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Thomas, Mrs. John Olewine and Mrs. Geo. A, Bayard.

Wedded At the Pan-American.

Mr. C. M. Fry, of Pittsburg, and Miss Susie Osman, accompanied by Mr. J. B. Hubler and Miss Eva Osman, comprised a wedding party that went to Buffalo Wednesday morning. The lovers,—and who shall say that there were not two pairs,—were Mr. Fry and Miss Sue Osman. They were married Thursday at the seat of the Pan-American exposition, where a honeymoon of two weeks will be spent. The wedding took place away from home on account of the illness of the bride's mother.

Mr. Fry is a fireman on the Pittsburg Limited, the train which convered the body of our late President to its grave at Canton. He is a sober, and industrious young man and, since leaving home, has saved his earnings so that he will now be able to take his estimable young wife to furnished apartments at Pittsburg. He is a son of our popular veterinarian, Capt. W. H. Fry, of Pine Grove Mills. While his fair bride is a daughter of Lemuel Osman, also a niece of Hon. J. T. McCormick. Until a few days ago she had been acting as an operator at the State College telephone exchange, and was truly efficient.

A Fiendish Attack.

An attack was lately made on C. F. Collier of Cherokee, Iowa, that nearly proved fatal. It came through his kidneys. His back got so lame he could not stoop without great pain, nor sit in a chair except propped by cushions. No remedy helped him until he tried Electric Bitters which effected such a wonderful change that he writes he feels like a new man. This marvelous medicine cures backache and kidney trouble, purifies the blood and builds up your health. Only 50c at F. Potts Green's Drug Store.

—There are in Yucatan 7 cities, 13 towns, 62 ruined cities, 143 villages, 15 abandoned settlements and 333 haciendas. Scarcely any of these places has as many as 10,000 inhabitants, the population of the great majority falling below 1,000.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper.

Home of Swamp-Root.

Fowls and Their Fruit.

Charred bone, as well as charred corn, is good for poultry.

A flock of twelve hens will supply a family of four with eggs.

It is the natural habit of the fowls to be in the open air as much as possible.

For ducklings mix cornmeal and bran, equal parts, into a mush with milk.

The white breeds are very desirable for the table, as no black pin feathers are broken off.

Turkeys are readily fattened on thick boiled cornmeal and oatmeal mixed with chopped suet.

If you see a hen spin around in a dizzy, crazy manner and suddenly fall dead, she probably died of apoplexy, caused by overfeeding.

In Spring, Summer and Autumn fowls that have the run of the farm do not need any grain or meat. What they pick up, with bugs and insects they catch, will be enough.

The Delightful Autumn.

The season of the year is now upon us when nature seems to go to sleep. The leaves are falling and things are beginning to present their chilly, desolute appearance, which comes with the winter months. The housewife has taken in her tender plants to protect them from the cruel biting of Jack Frost. The young people are beginning to talk of chestnut parties, and we may soon expect the usual accident which comes in chestnut hunting.

Yellow vs. Yellow.

From Buffalo Courier.

Philadelphia Inquirer, the shameless organ of Quayism and all of its crimes, lays the blame for the assassination upon the so-called "yellow" press. It is not significant that the apologists for corporate lawlessness the country over are the loudest in this clamor?

Children's Fertilizer.

That's a good name for Scott's Emulsion. Children are like young plants. Some will grow in ordinary soil. Others need fertilizers.

The nature of some children prevents them from thriving on ordinary food Such children grow right if treated right.

All they need is a little fertilizer—a little extra richness. Scott's Emulsion is the right treatment.

Fertilizers make things grow. That's just what Scott's Emulsion does. It makes children grow in flesh, grow in strength, grow rich blood, grow in mind, grow happy. That's what we make it for.

A Triumph in Division.

A lesson in arithmetic is no joke—a painful reality, rather—yet a Boston schoolboy is alleged to have been inspired to humor by the very worst of the problems in long division. After he had failed on the sums the teacher set he asked permission to give one of his own. The privelege was granted.

"My aunt had eight children," he said, "and she doesn't like to favor one above another. She was at the market the other day and she bought eight apples for them, one apiece, but when she got home she found she'd lost one apple, All the same she divided the apples so as to give each child the same number. How did she do it?"

The class hadn't got along to fractions and the boy insisted that his aunt knew nothing about algebra. So the puzzled teacher finally asked: "Well, how did she divide the seven apples so as to give each of the eight children an equal number?"

"She made apple sauce."

Deafness of 12 Years Standing.

Protracted catarrh produces deafness in many cases. Capt. Ben. Connor, of Toronto, Canada, was deaf for 12 years from catarrh. All treatments failed to relieve. Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder gave him relief in one day and in a very short while the deafness left him entirely. It will do as much for you. 50 cents.—17

The First Granted.

The first charter issued in Pennsylvania for the incorporation of a distilling company since the present constitution was adopted was granted by the state department a few days ago. The general corporation act of 1874 expressly forbade the incorporation of distilling companies, and every attempt to get the legislature to change this failed until the last session, when a provision was carried in a corporation act including distilling companies, and it received the approval of Governor Stone. While it was thought there would be a great rush on the part of distillers to get charters the one just issued is the only one so far applied for.

New Company Gains a Point.

A few days ago the Attorney General rendered a decision in the cases of the Centre and Clearfield Railway Co. vs. The Philipsburg and Suburban Electric Railway, Houtzdale and Suburban Electric Railway and the Philipsburg and Houtzdale Passenger Railway Co., and allowed writs of quo warranto to issue in each case to show cause why the said three companies should not forfeit their corporate franchises.

The cases were certified to Clearfield county, where further proceedings will be had looking to the complete ousting of the said companies.

Death of Joseph Miller.

Joseph Miller died at the home of William Bridgens, at Mapes Station, in Beech Creek township, Sunday Sept. 29th, of consumption, after a continued illness. The deceased was aged about 47 years and is survived by one brother, Matthew, of Beech Creek; and two sisters, Mrs. Doland Gardner, of Howard, and Mrs. Blackford, of Bellefonte. The funeral took place the following Tuesday, services being held in the Disciple church by Rev. M. C. Frick and interment in the graveyard opposite the church.

CO. B, FIFTH REG., BANQUETED.

Captain Hugh S. Taylor Royally Entertains His Men.

One of the finest banquets ever held in Bellefonte was that which Captain Taylor tendered the members or his company Friday evening in their large Armory on Spring street.

Captain Taylor's term of office expired August 31, 1901. Orders were issued from Brigade headquarters that an election should be held to elect a captain of Co. B, 5th Reg., N. G. P. Col. Theodore Burchfield, of the 5th, was detailed to conduct said election which was held Sept. 27th. The boys had no other in mind than their old captain and he was unanimously re-elected. After the election Col. Burchfield said, "boys I congratulate you for your good sense in choosing Mr. Taylor as your captain again; he is the best officer I have in my regiment and Co. B is my best company. I always know where to send when I need a full company and their officers for duty and that is to Company B."

The captain wanted to thank the boys other than just standing up and telling them that he was much obliged, so he made ready this grand feast and invited them all to come. It being the first Friday night of the month a full uniform drill was ordered. The company fell into line about 7:30 and marched to the Diamond and there went through the manual of arms and a course of manoeuvres to perfection, and then back to the Armory, and dismissed from further duty for the evening except a personal duty which no one would have missed under any circumstances.

About 9 o'clock forty-five soldiers and their honored guests sat down to one of the finest dinners every given in Bellefonte. Two long tables, beautifully decorated with choice cut flowers, were loaded down with good things to eat. Caterer Harrison was at his best and served everything up to date and in royal style.

After the inner man was properly attended to the finest brands of cigars were passed and all were enjoying them when the host of this happy gathering arose and in befitting words introduced Mr. Fred R. Kurtz, Sr., one of the honored guests of the evening. Mr. Kurtz responded with a neat little speech. Mr. George R. Meek was next called on and in his usual way made a speech full of fun and humor that pleased all the boys. Mr. Francis Speer who is noted for his after dinner speeches was the next speaker. He was followed by one whom every man in Co. B respects and honors and they were especially glad that he was among them and that was Gen. John I. Curtin. Gen. Curtin does not claim to be a public speaker but the few words he said touched every soldier's heart present. Mr. James R. Hughes, an old member of the company, was next to speak. Mr. Hughes was a sergeant in Co. B ten years ago, when Capt. Taylor was a private. He told a great many interesting incidents that happened during those years. Others who made speeches during the evening were Assistant Surgeon Robt. G. H. Hayes, Sergeant Major Boyd Musser, and last but not least of all, one of the company's best and truest friends, R. A. Beck.

This happy event ended by all giving three hearty cheers for the Captain, and in the words of Rip Van Winkle, "May he live long and prosper."

DEATH OF MOYER LYON.

A Once Prominent Business Man of This Place Dies at Philadelphia.

Moyer Lyon, formerly a prominent business man of this place, but late of Philadelphia, died Monday noon at the home of his sister, Mrs Joseph Lichten at No. 2111 North 20th Street, Philadelphia. Death was due to stomach trouble from which he had been suffering since last winter. His illness however, did not alarm his family until about six weeks ago when he took a turn for the worse resulting as above stated.

Moyer Lyon was the son of Bernhard and Estella Lyon and was born in France about forty-five years ago. When quite young his parents came to this country where they have resided ever since and where Moyer received his education. Moyer was for many years connected with the large dry goods store of Lyon & Co., at this place and only left here a few years ago to engage in business in Philadelphia.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Estella Lyon, of this place, and one brother, Gustolph, of Philadelphia, and the following sisters, Mrs. Wm. Lehman, Mrs. Joseph Lichten, Mrs. Alfred Gordon, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. William Grauer, of Bellefonte.

The funeral occurred Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence of his sister in Philadelphia. Interment in Mt. Sinai cemetery.

AN OLD SOLDIER GONE.

Mr. Abraham Hamilton Passes Beyond, Sunday Morning.

One by one the ranks of the bravest men America ever knew are slowly passing into the great beyond, their to await the final call of God. It will not be long, until what is known as the Grand Army of the Republic will have passed into history, for very fast they are being called home.

Mr. Hamilton was one of these brave men, when the call for volunteers was made in the early sixties, he responded promptly and was among the first of our noble old soldiers to be sent to the front. He fought and was wounded and now the time has come when God has called him to his reward.

Mr. Hamilton has not been well for the last five weeks, he slipped and fell breaking two ribs on his right side and ever since then he has been confined to the house. He was much better all last week and on Saturday he was around the house, he ate a hearty supper, retired about ten o'clock. Early next morning his daughter Miss Lizzie heard him calling and she hastened to his bedside but before she could do anything for him, he had passed away. The doctor was sent for and pronounced death due to heart failure.

Mr. Hamilton was born on the old Hamilton Homestead near Pleasant Gap, on October 28, 1841 and had he lived until the 28th of this month he would of been 60 years old. In the spring of 1863 he was married to Miss Katharine Martin, this happy union was blessed with three children one is dead and two living Miss Lizzie who is now at home and Mrs. Clyde Smith. Besides his wife an aged mother, four sisters are left to mourn his death, Mrs. Hannah Hamilton, Mrs. Sarah Satterfield, Mrs. Samuel Williams, Mrs. William Dawson, Mrs. John Noll. The funeral took place Wednesday afternoon from his late home at Bush Addition. Services being conducted by Rev. Wm. Laurie D. D. LL. D. of the Presbyterian church, and Rev. Brown of the Evangelical church. The Gregg Post, and the members of the Knights of Golden Eagles attended in a body.

A Pretty Home Wedding.

The residence of Mrs. Josephine Cruse on East Linn street was the scene of a very pretty wedding event Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock, when Mrs Cruse's only daughter, Mary L., was united in holy bonds of wedlock to Mr. Samuel Kline Woodring, a promising young attorney at the Centre county bar.

The wedding was celebrated in the parlor of the Cruse residence, which was beautifully decorated for the occasion, in the presence of only the immediate families of the contracting parties. Dr. William Laurie, pastor of the Presbyterian church, performed the ceremony.

The bride was attired in white and presented a very pretty and attractive appearance while the groom looked manly and handsome in conventional black.

Mr, and Mrs. Woodring left on an evening train for a short wedding tour to eastern cities.

The bride is the daughter of the late Andrew J. Cruse, in his time a prominent business man of our town, while the groom is the son of Ex-Sheriff Daniel Woodring. Both young people are well and favorably known in Bellefonte society.

Pumpkin Report.

The missionary pumpkin presented to Mr. Crittenden in Elk county not far from the highest point of the Alleghenies, cut into slices and sold in front of Harper Brothers' Grocery, after deducting expenses netted him $3.80 for Bible School Mission purposes in that section of the State.
